January 27, 2020 -
Two Toronto based companies have gotten together to give customers their customers the best of both worlds in Toronto when it comes to HVAC services. These two companies are Furnace Repair Toronto and Martino HVAC. This partnership gives these two companies the ability to handle just about any conceivable heating or air conditioning needs that their customers have. More on this partnership can be read about here at Furnace Repair Toronto.

Furnace Repair Toronto spokesperson, Michael Coy, gave us this take on how the partnership came about by saying, ?Over the last year or so, we have been looking for new ways to give our Toronto customers even more choices when it comes to heating and air conditioning services. The partnership with Martino HVAC came about because we were referring people to them for some air conditioning tasks that we do not handle and they had also been referring people to us for some furnace services that they did not offer. We both noticed that as this was taking place, we communicated well and our customers were very happy with the results too. One day the management from both companies started talking about a partnership and now that conversation has come to fruition. So far, we have been getting rave reviews from satisfied customers that say they love the fact that they rarely if ever must call anyone else to get any HVAC need met. We really are two companies whose heating and air conditioning services complement each other perfectly.?

Coy went on to say that their company has been in business since 2015. In that time Furnace Repair Toronto has managed to become one of the most respected heating contractors in and around the Toronto, Ontario area. They have done this by not only doing top-notch heater work but also but Coy says they also place a heavy emphasis on customer service. The spokesperson went on to add that since they are a relatively young heating services company, all their heating troubleshooting and repair equipment is relatively new, so it has the latest and best technologies built right into it. Coy added that another reason that their furnace installation and repair company has become so popular in a short amount of time is that they warranty all their furnace work and they guarantee that their customers? will be satisfied with it.

He went on to say that their core services include such things as routine furnace maintenance services, furnace installation, and furnace problem diagnosis and repair. They are also ready to help their customers out 24-hours a day with fast response emergency furnace services. For more information on what Furnace Repair Toronto offers, Coy says their website can be viewed at https://furnace-repair-toronto.ca/.

The Furnace Repair Toronto spokesperson went on to state that Martino HVAC is by far the most established HVAC services provider of the two. They have been helping out their Toronto customers for over 30 years now. It?s a family run business that?s best known for responding promptly when called by a customer to come to help them with their home or commercial HVAC needs. They are an award-winning company that does quality work when it comes to such things as air conditioning system maintenance, AC leak detection and repairs, and new AC unit installations. Coy also mentioned that it?s a company that is no such in its own right as far as HVAC heating services go too.

Here is what one of Martino HVAC?s recent customers, T.S. from Uxbridge, had to say about the company?s work, ?Martino Contractors were very professional and did a fantastic job of installing our new furnace. Chris went over and above what we expected with his attention to detail on the project, which ended up being much more complicated than originally anticipated. We are very satisfied with the results and would highly recommend Martino Contractors in the future."
