January 27, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Mississauga, Ontario based Furnace Repair Mississauga is pleased to announce that they recently formed a partnership with Martino HVAC to offer a full range of heating and air conditioning services to property owners throughout Mississauga and its surrounding areas. They can service homes, industrial sites and commercial premises.

Sue Gonzales, speaking on behalf of Furnace Repair Mississauga, states, "Having served Mississauga since 2012, we are excited that our new partnership with Martino HVAC enables us to help more homeowners and businesses in our community. Martino HVAC, one of the leading HVAC companies in Ontario, and their commitment to providing excellent customer service, professional work and supplying quality products is a perfect fit for us. We are available around the clock to provide emergency services to anyone who has a problem with their system."

The company has also launched a new website to help anyone in the community find out more about their services. The new site is designed from the ground up to work well on any platform, be it desktop, laptop, tablet or smartphone. Customers may call directly from the website as well, or use the built in contact form to specify their needs. The new website can be accessed at <https://furnace-repair-mississauga.ca/>.

Gonzales continues, "We are embracing all the features and benefits that the internet provides us to help our customers find us. We know that our high quality, guaranteed services will speak for themselves, so we want to help everyone find us easily. Rest assured that we can assist you with any problems you are experiencing. This is the case whether you need a routine maintenance and tune-up, are thinking about replacing your furnace or need an out-of-hours emergency heating service. Simply give us a call straight away to schedule your appointment."

Throughout the winter months, the furnace is the most important appliance in any home or business. However, most people tend to overlook the maintenance of their HVAC units until it becomes a problem. Over the years, Furnace Repair Mississauga has helped many residents and businesses deal with those problems, providing qualified engineers and excellent customer support.

Even though the average lifespan of an HVAC system is typically 20 years or more, it will require regular maintenance (some of which the property owner can undertake themselves). However, mandatory maintenance and tune-ups are often skipped, leading to problems that can in turn result in much higher energy bills and even expensive emergency repairs. The company, therefore, recommends having routine maintenance and inspections completed by professional HVAC engineers to help prevent any issues from getting out of hand.

To help those who live and work in the area, Furnace Repair Mississauga has also launched a blog, which can be accessed at <https://furnacerepairmississauga.wordpress.com/>. Through their blog, they publish a variety of informative content in addition to links that connect to all their social media accounts on networks like Twitter, Facebook, Tumblr, YouTube and so on. Their aim is to make their instructional content available in the form that their customers prefer to receive it, so there are links to materials shared through cloud services as well.

As noted on their website, Furnace Repair Mississauga specializes in HVAC services and solutions. Their engineers carry out high quality installation and repair of furnaces, air conditioning systems, heat pumps, boilers, HVAC units and many other systems. They also maintain the same high standards when it comes to the inspection and maintenance services.

Gonzales concludes, "We hope our customers will like our new website and take advantage of the same great service you've received. We know that word of mouth has been an important factor of our ongoing success over the years. Partnering with Martino HVAC means we can continue to provide access to the top HVAC brands while maintaining our high quality service and customer support."

The company invites all those looking for professional HVAC and furnace services in the Mississauga area to call them directly. More information regarding their services can be found on their website as well, and interested parties may stay abreast of Furnace Repair Mississauga's informative articles and other posts on Facebook and Twitter.
