H&W Quality Products has announced that the coccyx seat cushion will be featured in several upcoming annual meetings. These include the European Orthopaedic Research Society's 23rd Annual Meeting in Bristol, UK; the 7th Annual International Hip Arthroscopy Meeting in Cambridge, UK; and the Annual Safety & Health Conference in Orlando, Florida.

The meetings are set to take place between August and September 2015, and the company's first product, the coccyx seat cushion, is slated to be demonstrated in these gatherings, particularly with regards to its contribution to health and safety. The cushion is designed to relieve the discomfort from prolonged sitting, tailbone injuries, and provides a number of other benefits. It was launched on the Amazon marketplace in early summer of 2015, and further details can be seen at <http://www.amazon.com/dp/B00YI4KH9I>.

Greg Dunsworth, owner of H&W Quality Products, released a statement about the company's goals: "Our company was founded on the premise of bringing health and wellness solutions to consumers. Our products are and will continue to be primarily focused on alleviating discomfort caused by everyday tasks such as sitting, standing, or lying down."

The coccyx seat cushion features a plush inner foam that reduces the pressure normally placed on the coccyx, tailbone, and the hip bones when sitting for long periods of time. It is designed to perfectly fit chairs, wheelchairs, car seats, and airplane seats. By promoting healthier weight distribution, it helps with posture and spine alignment. It has a soft cover that can be removed for washing.

"We believe being active is a way to promote wellness, and we offer products that are designed to increase comfort and performance in sport or leisure activities," says Greg Dunsworth.

Meanwhile, the company has recently released a second product, a hooded neck pillow, and is planning to launch a hydration running belt in the very near future.
