January 23, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Lyerla Heating & Air have announced that now is the best time of the year for both homeowners and business owners to have their systems inspected and serviced. The reason is quite simple; it is less expensive. Most people do not think about having their heating and air systems serviced until they go to use them, and they then find that they are not working as well as they should, or even not working at all.

Heating, Ventilation and Air Conditioning (HVAC) systems are an intrinsic part of life nowadays whether someone is a householder or a business owner. Whichever is the case, it is a fact of life that most people do not really give any thought to the system until something goes wrong. With a little forethought, however, most issues can be prevented. Regular inspection and servicing can make the difference between a system failing or continuing to function effectively. Maintenance is nearly always cheaper than repair.

Homeowners and business owners who want to take advantage of lower pricing for heating and air Joplin MO should consider doing so as this is the best time of the year to get the best deals. Lyerla Heating & Air offers full HVAC services for businesses and homeowners of any size.

The HVAC system, like any other complex machine, requires regular maintenance. Failure to clean and maintain the system will mean that performance will start to decline and eventually the system itself may fail. Regular maintenance can help prevent failure which in turn saves money because the system will last a lot longer.

An HVAC system helps to maintain a comfortable environment to live or work in. Keeping the system clean and running efficiently means that stale air is recycled and no matter what the climate is outside the indoor temperature is comfortably maintained. Being such an important part of everyday life, it only makes sense to invest relatively little in maintenance in order to prevent a lot of future spending on a replacement. The company also wants people to know that proper maintenance of HVAC is not just a comfort issue, it can be a health issue as well as dirty HVAC systems are known to exacerbate allergy symptoms.

Undoubtedly hiring a professional HVAC company is the best way to ensure the system continues to perform at its very best. Trying to maintain an HVAC system properly is simply not something that homeowners and business owners can realistically do for themselves. They do not have the knowledge, skills, or equipment to do the job properly.

Filters get dirty very easily and all filters will be inspected and changed if required. In addition, there will be a visual inspection of the entire HVAC system. This is an important element of system servicing as without it, problems can very well go unnoticed and there will be a risk of failure. Obviously, failure during the height of winter or summer can be very problematic.

Dust and debris are a problem in areas other than just the filter and it is necessary to have them professionally cleaned and removed. A little dust within the system is only to be expected and the system will still function relatively well. Letting dust and debris gather will prevent the system from running as efficiently as it should.

Hal Smitherson, a company spokesman said "We offer guaranteed budgets, schedules, and performance results to meet specific facility requirements for large physical plants. And we also offer our "Lyerla Comfort Club," for homeowners." Lyerla has had many local homeowners tell them that they delayed maintenance on their HVAC systems due to concerns about the costs. Mr. Smitherson went on to say, "We developed the Comfort Club because it offers year-round efficiency and maintenance at an affordable price."

Lyerla makes a point to ensure that everyone from the equipment installers to the service technicians is certified and trained in all types and brands of heating and cooling equipment. Lyerla services the areas around Joplin including Neosho, Missouri and the surrounding areas.
