Miramar, Florida based The Plastic Surgeon Miami is pleased to share that they recently published a new article describing the benefits of cosmetic eyelid surgery. The article in question is currently available on their website.

The Plastic Surgeon Miami is one of Florida's most renowned cosmetic clinics, as they enjoy a distinguished reputation for offering outstanding attention and keeping their patients' best interests at heart. This is further highlighted in the clinic's new article on eyelid surgery, as they have decided to share some of the relevant details that patients should take into consideration before deciding to undergo surgery.

Dr. Ramiro Morales, Lead Surgeon at The Plastic Surgeon Miami, says, "Eyelid surgery is one of the most popular cosmetic procedures, though not everyone knows what this complicated treatment encompasses nor how it can help correct their problems. Our goal in sharing this information is to educate the community and reassure them that we can provide further consultation if they want answers to any inquiries they may have regarding their specific case."

Eyelid surgeries are meant to correct both upper and lower eyelid problems. These features usually tend to droop, giving patients a weary, bored look and impairing their vision. This condition affects a significant part of the population, making eyelid surgery one of the most popular cosmetic procedures in Miami. The only way to correct this condition is to directly tackle the fatty deposits and excess skin in both eyelids. Dr. Morales specializes in this practice, reassuring his patients that the outcome of their procedures will be a beautiful, rejuvenated appearance alongside complete, functional recovery of their eyelids.

Dr. Morales states, "While it may seem simple enough, a lot of thought and consideration goes into every single eyelid cosmetic surgery in Miami. There are no two cases that are exactly the same regardless of their similarities and, as professional cosmetic surgeons, we understand this and tailor our practice depending on each patient's personal challenges and goals. Getting to know a patient's expectations and the source of their discomfort is essential to ensuring the best results possible, which is why we place such a keen focus on urging our patients to be open with us."

According to Dr. Morales, preliminary consultations play the most significant role in the outcome of the surgery, as this is when they advise and guide patients on the best long-term approach to their condition. Complementary treatments that may be necessary to achieve the expected results, such as eye lifts, are also discussed during these consultations. The clinic states that they do everything within their power to guarantee each and every patient's satisfaction with their results.

The procedure itself takes anywhere between 1-4 hours under normal circumstances, though this is open to change depending on any challenges that may arise during surgery. Given that the procedure involves making incisions and lifting the skin in a delicate area, the recovery period for eyelid surgery can require several weeks where the patient will require minimum stress and exercise.

The Plastic Surgeon Miami boasts several success stories that attest to the excellence of their cosmetic procedures, as they are among the best-rated clinics in the area. One of their most recent testimonials, shared by Marisel Jarrin through their Facebook page, states, "I have so many great things to say about Dr. Morales and his staff. Dr. Morales definitely lives up to his 5-Star review. He took the time to listen and answered all of my questions. He came by to visit me at the hospital the very next day, wearing a warm, inviting smile. His energy is so good, and that's an important characteristic to have as a doctor. His staff is friendly and helpful, truly a dream team. They were very thorough in explaining everything involved in my procedures. I am extremely pleased with the results and can't wait to go back for my post-op visit. It is without reservation that I recommend Dr. Morales and his staff for all your cosmetic needs."
