January 24, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Bent Creek Dental, a dental clinic based out of Auburn, Alabama is excited to announce that they have acquired new, technologically advanced pieces of equipment that will help them provide the best dental care that money can buy. More information about the dental clinic can be found at the following link: <https://www.bentcreekdental.com/>.

The first of the two pieces of equipment they have acquired is a CBCT machine. CBCT stands for ?Cone Beam Computed Tomography? (but is also referred to as C-arm CT, cone beam volume CT, or flat panel CT) and is a medical imaging technique consisting of X-ray computed tomography where the X-Rays are divergent, forming a cone. CBCT has been described as the gold standard for imaging the oral and maxillofacial area because it uses as many as 600 distinct images to provide a full 3-dimensional view of the entire mouth and jaw.

The high resolution 3D images provided by a CBCT machine allow dentists to see many crucial details that are critically important to be aware of before dental surgery. According to Bent Creek Dental, CBCT machines are expensive pieces of equipment for any dentist, often costing as much as $90,000 or even more.

In addition to the CBCT machine, Bent Creek Dental has acquired an intra-oral scanner. Intra-oral scanners are devices that are used for capturing direct optical impressions in dentistry. These scanners allow dentists to create high-quality digital impressions of patients' teeth in lifelike colors to use in the creation of crowns, appliances, clear aligners and so on.

Dr. Joshua Mathis of Bent Creek Dental says, "We use the intra-oral scanner, also known as a Medit Scanner, to improve the accuracy and speed of our work. We can use the scanner for crowns, bridges, Invisalign, night guards, implants and partial dentures. We have found the fit to be very accurate, and our patients appreciate not having to deal with more gooey impression materials. The scans from the Medit can be merged with our 3D X-Rays from the CBCT for precise planning of implant placement for our patients. The result is more precisely placed implants and faster appointments."

Aided by high quality, state of the art equipment, Bent Creek Dental provides a variety of dental services including but not limited to root canal treatments, dental crowns and bridges, dental implants, dentures, dental cleaning and pediatric dentistry.

The services provided by Dr. Joshua Matthis and his team at Bent Creek Dental have earned the clinic a lot of praise. On Google, they have a perfect rating of 5/5 Stars from over 200 reviews. In a recent review, Anna Hammond says that she had a, "Great experience. From start to finish, I actually enjoyed my visit to the dentist. The office is modern and clean. The women at the front desk are kind and welcoming. I was taken back right away, no wait time. I went in for a regular cleaning. They have TVs on the walls and the ceiling as a great distraction. I pretty much watched 1 episode of Property Brothers on HGTV and was done. My cleaning is easy and the dental hygienist, Mary Catherine, was gentle and kind. The doctor was nice and personable. I have already scheduled my next appointment. Thank you."

In another review, Google Local Guide Samantha McIntosh says, "This place was wonderful! I had an infected tooth and, during my first visit, they were extra careful to not bump anything or cause any more pain. I went back for an extraction, and they did everything they could to minimize any pain. They checked multiple times to make sure I was completely numb, and the extraction was super quick. This place is awesome."
