January 28, 2020 -
Georgia residents who may be dealing with injuries as a result of a car accident in Georgia will be happy to know that Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Macon offers legal representation to those dealing with personal injury cases. When one is injured, it may be difficult to figure out what the next steps should be and where to find help. Medical treatment leads to expensive bills piling up, and few are prepared to handle both the stress of paying for treatment and that of fighting for the compensation they deserve in court. Added to this is the tendency of insurance companies to take advantage of people in such situations by trying to get them to settle quickly, often for a smaller sum than they are entitled to.

Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C knows and understands what it is like to go through all of this, which is why they strive to make it easier for their clients to deal with personal injury cases. They are one of the top choices for those looking for personal injury lawyers in Macon, GA and have managed to build a great reputation for themselves as personal injury attorneys in the area.

?The system is not made to work for the victim in a personal injury case,? says the firm. ?Many people are confused about the role of the insurance adjuster in a typical Georgia personal injury claim. The adjuster?s job is to make money for the insurance company. They may be polite and appear to have your best interest in mind, but you should not be fooled. The insurance company is not on your side, and they will undervalue your claim in the hope you will take a low settlement offer quickly so you can simply be done with the case and obtain some financial relief. Even worse, once you sign a release and waiver, you can never bring any legal claims against the at-fault party in the future. If effect, this means you will have completely given up your rights with regard to the accident.?

The law is very complicated, especially for those with little or no training in legal matters, and Macon personal injury law firms regularly see people in difficult situations fall victim to the field?s complexities. Navigating Georgia personal injury law requires the attention of a skilled and experienced personal injury attorney who is committed to getting their clients the compensation they deserve. Kenneth S. Nugent has a team of highly experienced experts on hand who can determine whether or not their client is receiving appropriate compensation for their case and find a way to ensure that they get it. The firm gathers all the relevant information and enters legal battles on their clients? behalf, fully prepared to fight for them. They also refuse to accept less than what the case is worth.

?If you have been hurt in a Macon injury accident, do not try to speak with the insurance company on your own. Negotiating your own claim without an attorney will almost always result in a lower settlement offer. Our team of Macon personal injury lawyers stands ready and willing to assist you at any time,? the firm says.

Kenneth S. Nugent offers their assistance in a wide variety of personal injury claims in Macon. With over 1000 people having died on Georgia?s roadways in 2017 alone, the firm has a great deal of experience with automobile accidents and the personal injury claims that occur as a result. The most destructive automobile accidents are those that involve commercial vehicles, and the firm?s trucking attorneys handle injury claims resulting from crashes on a regular basis.

Another area in which Kenneth S. Nugent has experience is medical malpractice. ?If you have been hurt during a routine medical procedure, received a misdiagnosis from your doctor resulting in personal damages or followed an improper course of medical treatment at your doctor?s advice, you could have a claim for medical malpractice,? the firm states.

There are a number of positive reviews of the firm from clients that have worked with Kenneth S. Nugent and received the compensation they needed. ?I spoke with an agent, and he steered me in the right direction for my problem,? says one 5-Star review. ?Very honest and sincere. I have no problem with this law firm. I must say that I was pleasantly surprised by the response. Overall, I feel that they will help in the areas that they can.?
