In August of 2019, Craig Vigodsky officially announced his law firm was "pet-friendly". In other words, his law office was now open to pets. "We know that during a divorce, that not only the children are affected, but also the pets too," Vigodsky explained. "This is why we became a pet-friendly firm, because pets are just as much family as our children."

The family law attorney in Pensacola, FL has been credited with helping many families in Pensacola get through a divorce, often without even needing a judge.
