Pensacola, Fla. - Over the course of the previous year there has been an increase in Chapter 13 bankruptcy cases in the United States. Many debt consolidation cases can be attributed to financial adversities such as credit card debt, losing a job, medical disability, divorce, falling behind on certain payments, or criminal incarceration. Pensacola bankruptcy attorneys have noticed an increased interest in these cases, and what the option of Bankruptcy means for the average working or home-owning resident.

Martin Lewis and Steven Jurnovoy joined as partners in 1998 to create the law firm of Lewis & Jurnovoy, P.A. The primary emphasis of the law firm is in the representation of individuals and sole proprietors in Chapter 13 Bankruptcy (?Debt Consolidation?) and Chapter 7 Straight Bankruptcy. Since then, they have been providing their legal advice to those in need to ensure every option is considered before committing to one.

Due to the financial turmoil that many individuals faced during 2019 causing the inability to pay bills each month, while also trying to protect their assets, keeping valuables such as an owned home or car is very important to Gulf Coast residents who are facing fiscal hardships. The Pensacola bankruptcy lawyers foresee their expert opinions being requested well into 2020 to those considering Chapter 13 bankruptcy.
