In terms of color, earthy shades will dominate this year, the company says. One excellent paint color choice for exterior remodeling this year is moss green. Moss green exudes natural aesthetics and works well with both dark and light shades.

Apart from increasing the resale value of a home, there are also some other factors why getting a fresh exterior coat is a good investment. The Best Exterior Painters in Bluffton, SC highlighted that more than aesthetics, new exterior paint is protection for the home.

"The major advantage of paint is that it protects the home's exterior walls from damages and other weather effects. You can also use paint to keep dust off of your interior walls, trim, and other surfaces," according to the exterior house painting company. Likewise, they stressed that a good exterior paint prevents peeling and cracking of walls.
