February 05, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Airmont, NY based HomebuildersHardware.com is reaching out to schools all over the USA to offer a best in class door lock solution to complement their security upgrades. Given the rapidly growing need for security implementations in schools over the past decade or so, the company hopes that further adoption of their Lawrence Hardware - Commercial Classroom Security Lock will help keep more students from potential harm.

More information about the classroom security door lock can be found at the following link:
<https://www.homebuildershardware.com/product/lawrence-cylindrical-grade-1-extra-heavy-duty-commercial-lever-lockset-entrance-function-brushed-chrome-finish/>.

The company states, "This extra heavy-duty ANSI Grade 1 Lawrence Hardware lock set provides exceptional security, enhanced aesthetics, and rugged dependability. It is specially designed to be used in a variety of institutional and educational environments. The lever comes with a 20 year warranty, longer than the Schlage and Sargent brands, because it surpasses them in quality." The lock is designed to fit most of the doors on the market, and they can be installed for either left or right handed use. It is explicitly designed for extended use in high traffic indoor locations, like schools.

According to the company, the past 60-70 years have seen schools use Grade 2 heavy-duty commercial locks for their classrooms. Recently, however, school administrators and other concerned parties have identified the need for better security measures to protect their students. As a result, they have been steadily switching to the safer and more reliable Grade 1 classroom security lock from Lawrence Hardware, a company that is renowned in the field for the high quality, dependability and durability of their products since 1876. The idea behind this push for better security is that more students will be able to remain safe in the event of a shooting lockdown or other types of emergency situations.

Fortunately, there are a host of great funding opportunities being offered by municipal, state and federal institutions. These financial grants can give eligible schools access to better forms of security hardware, such as the Lawrence Hardware Grade 1 lock and other products that serve a similar purpose. HomebuildersHardware.com states that they, "only sell products that have ANSI/BHMA certification, which is the highest certification for durability and quality in hardware. We are so sure that your hardware will not fail that if you install the product and use it as per its intended usage and it still fails we will either replace it for free or refund 100% of your purchase price. This will give you the peace of mind in making the right choice in purchasing our products." These high standards of quality are also what make Lawrence Hardware the company's preferred manufacturer. Lawrence Hardware has been in the industry since 1876, affording them a wealth of experience in the field.

Similarly, HomebuildersHardware.com understands that good products must be made as accessible as possible. To ensure that they can get into the hands of the people who need them the most, the company's full suite of products can be purchased on Amazon.com, Ebay.com, Walmart.com in addition to their own official website. They assert, however, that the true benefit of their dedicated customer service can only be gained by ordering directly through their website, a benefit that most customers will likely prefer over other alternatives. Furthermore, the company is adamant that their prices remain as affordable as possible, which is why they offer steep discounts for all schools and non-profit organizations. Notably, discounts are also available for orders made in bulk (such discounted prices are normally reserved only for mass orders by commercial architects and builders). Each product also comes with a no-hassle 30-day no quibble returns policy.
