

Web Marketingville Announces New Help In Solving The Problem Of No Local Business Leads

August 24, 2015

August 24, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Web Marketingville, a Cincinnati, Ohio based company, is a nontraditional internet marketing company that has seen much success with thinking outside the box. With a number of proprietary solutions, Web Marketingville has been helping local businesses get more leads through the internet and social media, using methods that many marketers have either forgotten or never considered.

With more than 89% of those searching for products and services going to the internet and social media first, Web Marketingville has positioned itself to help its customers succeed. The company offers a number of marketing services, all proven to be effective in local marketing, which is where many small businesses fail with regards to reaching their target audiences.

Ken Geers, spokesperson for Web Marketingville released this comment about the company's services, "We do an in-depth analysis of each customer to understand their local business market, and then we build an internet marketing plan to help them to compete with that market. We have client testimonials that prove the service provided Web Marketingville works."

One service provided by the company, Review Branding Commercials, uses short videos that run around 60 seconds each to offer instant brand recognition and promote business credibility through the reviews posed about the videos.

The company uses professional spokesmodels, a Hollywood styled background and video production, and they edit and brand each video to market the business as a leader in their respective field.

"Video marketing is brilliant," says Ken, "Using commercials to brand your business is something that companies have been doing for decades, and it's something that has worked every single time."

"If you want more leads to your local business visit WebMarketingville.com and grow your business without limits," says Geers. "We can show you the Best use of your local business internet marketing budget for more leads.

Web Marketingville is considered a non-traditional internet marketing firm. It starts the online marketing process by building a strong company reputation. Then using the power of its Local Buzz Connect brand, it markets that reputation to bring in more customers. Visit www.WebMarketingville.com for more information.

###

For more information about Web Marketingville, contact the company here: Web Marketingville Ken Geers 513 489-5550 webmarketingville@gmail.com Web Marketingville PO Box 42238 Cincinnati, OH 45242

Web Marketingville

A non traditional internet marketing approach to get your business noticed and your phone ringing. Web Marketingville works!

Website: <http://www.WebMarketingville.com>

Email: webmarketingville@gmail.com

Phone: 513 489-5550

