City Hall is an incredibly popular venue for weddings attracting not only San Franciscans but also people from all over the world. Many couples fly from around the globe to get married at City Hall, which is known to be one of the most vibrant, aesthetically pleasing examples of Beaux-Arts architecture in the entire city. From the grand entrance adorned with golden letters to the iconic rotunda, known for being the very spot where

Marilyn Monroe got married, the hall is a fascinating place that has inspired dozens of people as they use it as a venue for some of the most important moments in their lives.

The SF wedding photography team brings years of experience to every wedding and strives to capture each occasion with a passion rarely seen among photographers. The company says, "As passionate photographers with an eye for beautiful things, we also admire the intricately embellished marble walls, gilded railings, beautiful galleries and fascinating Art Deco details throughout the building."

The San Francisco City Hall Wedding Photographer team knows and has photographed every inch of the City Hall, which gives them an instinctual knowledge of where and when to take great photos in the city hall. The team knows exactly how to guide their clients through the building to the best spots where they can take great pictures even when the building is crowded. With San Francisco City Hall Wedding Photographer, one can rest assured that every important moment of their wedding day is captured. The team's experience guarantees great angles and lighting even if the hall is busy.

"Offering a fine blend of portraits, candid shots, and artistic San Francisco City Hall photos, we will create a wedding photo album you'll adore because your memories matter to us," the team states. "We will help you pose like a pro even if you have never done it before. But we will also follow you around to make gorgeous spontaneous snaps and you won't even notice that the camera is there. We will put a fresh, artistic spin on your San Francisco City Hall wedding photography, and we love being creative even while you are simply waiting in the hallways, signing the registry or riding the elevator. Our main goal is to portray who you are and what makes your SF City Hall wedding so special."

A number of clients have worked with the SF photography service, and many of them had great things to say in their reviews. "If you are getting married at SF City hall and want to work with a knowledgeable, professional company with excellent communication, go with San Francisco City Hall Photographer," says a 5-Star Google review. "We loved our photos! Joey was our photographer and guided us through City Hall in the most comfortable stress-free way possible. He not only guided us through our photos but also through the process of getting ready for our civil ceremony. Megan was our online contact for setting up the contract, coordinator and answering questions/providing info. Great people, great company! Fair prices and excellent results and experience! Thank you guys so much!"
