TLE Investigation Shows the Cost of Living Is Higher Than Ever in Many States

February 10, 2020 -
Title Loans Express (TLE) www.pressadvantage.com/organization/title-loans-express has announced the results of its investigation into the cost of living within the United States. The figures show that in many states the cost of living has seriously outpaced that in other states.

If they were asked which states are the most expensive to live in, most Americans would probably name California and New York as their top choices. They would be right for both states are in the top ten and in fact the top three, but they are not the most expensive. Surprisingly to many, that dubious honor falls to Hawaii which has consistently proven to be the most expensive state in the union to live in.

Asking Americans to name the other contenders for most expensive states to live in does not produce such an agreement as California and New York does. Some may guess at Alaska because of where it is and the difficulties faced due to weather and terrain, and they would be right. Most though, would not guess at Rhode Island or New Jersey which tie with each other at the lower end of the top ten scale. Connecticut and Oregon also feature highly and so does Maryland. Another state that rarely gets named is Massachusetts, but it is right up there behind California and New York.

The results of TLE?s investigation show that for many people living in those states with a much higher cost of living when a problem arises it can sometimes lead to financial difficulty. Financial difficulties can hit anyone at any time of course, but for those living in the aforementioned states the problem is likely to be far more acute than for someone living in a cheaper state.

A TLE spokesperson said, ?Our investigation showed which states were the most expensive to live in, but it also showed that financial difficulties for those in one of the states can often be more difficult to deal with simply because of that extra cost. Everything is more expensive, and so it can be a nightmare when trying to get it all under control. Someone?s credit plays an important role for most agencies and that can be a problem if the credit is less than stellar. Unfortunately, people might find their application being rejected time and again because of this. TLE?s way of doing things is very different and we try to be more helpful when other agencies can?t.?

Most people turn initially to traditional institutions such as banks. Traditional forms of financial assistance from agencies such as this can sometimes help but there is so much red tape involved before getting an answer and accordingly the application process is neither quick nor simple. When people run into difficulties the need is usually immediate and for many the answer may come too late to be of help.

As TLE explains on its website getting a title loan works in a very different way. Unlike bank assistance, car title assistance is available to anyone who is the sole owner of a vehicle. This may be a car, a motorcycle, an RV, or any other applicable vehicle but whichever is the case, the title owner will be eligible to apply.

The application process is also far simpler and far quicker than that of an agency like a bank. It only takes an average of five minutes to apply and a decision can be forthcoming in as little as fifteen minutes. Once approved, all the necessary documents such as the car title, vehicle registration papers, insurance papers, proof of income, and a form of ID will need to be submitted for copying. Once this copying has been completed the money will be made available.

The process is very straightforward and very quick but if there are any questions that need answering then TLE has fully trained financial assistance officers available. Further information on how it all works is online on TLE?s website at https://www.titleloansexpress.com/how-it-works/.
