Earlier today, Stretch Marks 101 happily announced that they have uploaded a new video entitled "How to Remove Stretch Marks" in their official YouTube channel. The video is targeted for both men and women who want to know how to remove unwanted stretch marks. According to the video, it is important to use a lotion that is packed with the right ingredients that can powerfully nourish and moisturize the skin.

As discussed in the video, while stretch marks can be very stubborn and hard to deal with, there is still hope for those who want to at least reduce their appearance. The video talked about some of the most important ingredients in a lotion that everyone should be looking for. The three important nourishing butters are Cocoa, Shea and Mango. In addition to these, lotions that target stretch marks should also include oils and antioxidants. These ingredients are all found in the very popular Bella Joi Stretch Mark Cream.

"We are very pleased to announce that we have a new video in our YouTube channel. The video tackles the most effective way to remove stretch marks", says company spokesperson for Stretch Marks 101, Tim Fleming. "As we all know, there are many products to choose from when it comes to lotions that promise to remove stretch marks. With this in mind, we came up with a short, but very informative video that discusses the most essential ingredients to look for when buying a lotion. We hope that this video will be able to help you choose better."

Stretch marks result from the overstretching of the skin. This is very common during pregnancy wherein the belly is stretched to accommodate the growing baby. Aside from pregnancy, rapid weight loss or weight gain and other health conditions may cause the formation of these unwanted marks. These marks can form in the abdomen, breast area and even the thighs. The older the marks get, the more permanent they become.

To date, Stretch Marks 101 has already uploaded a decent number of videos that are all about stretch marks. All these videos educate the public about the most frequently asked questions that people really want to be answered.
