

Rockwell's Power X Trading Books Are Flying Off The Shelves

February 12, 2020

February 12, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Austin, Texas based Rockwell Trading is delighted to announce that their latest book, The Power X Strategy, is flying off the shelves. They attribute their record sales to increased interest of those who want to learn how to find the best stocks for investment and increase their profits by limiting their risk.

Markus Heitkoetter, Founder of Rockwell Trading, says, "All too often, those who are busy working get bad investment advice or just pick stocks by the things they like to buy. Our latest book can help anyone learn how to avoid devastating losses by using my proven strategy. In as little as 15 minutes a day, everyone who reads it can take control of their financial future. Find out how others are growing their wealth to build a legacy and gain financial freedom by ordering a copy today."

To celebrate their success, Rockwell Trading decided to offer the book free of charge for a limited time. They hope this will equip anyone who is ready to take their financial freedom into their own hands. This offer is only available through the Rockwell Trading's website.

Heitkoetter says, "I was working 60-80 hour weeks as I was climbing up the IBM corporate ladder. It was hard work, taking up all my time. It looked glamorous to everyone else. However, it separated me from my family and my friends. It gave me little time to enjoy my own hobbies and, as for my passions, I was far too busy to even think about them, so I took the plunge and made a radical change to focus on one of them: stock trading. Through rigorous study and testing, I've developed a winning strategy which has made me very successful.?

He continues, ?I know that others are in the same place I used to be. I have decided to give back by finding ways to help others learn how to trade stocks successfully. My latest book is the culmination of everything I have learned?it can help anyone take back control of their finances and their financial future. I'm also making a free 60-minute training session available for those who prefer to attend training in person. I hope you will also connect with me on LinkedIn, Twitter, Facebook and YouTube to stay abreast of my latest insights, news, and announcements.?

To reserve a seat on the bonus training, simply book online through their website. The free 60-minute learning session covers the 5 Things You Should Know About The Power X Strategy and will teach attendees how to rapidly grow any account of any size. Even those who have no trading experience at all can learn how to trade with absolute confidence using The Power X Strategy. This is important since most of those new to trading lose up to 90% of their investments within the first three months of starting out.

From one of their recent Stock Trading Bootcamps, one attendee released their own video review of the stock trading strategy they learned. It highlights how valuable the Power X Trading Strategy is, as it helped them learn how to limit losses and win profits. There are many other reviews available online for those who want to get a balanced perspective on the subject as well. They are all evidence of the high quality of Rockwell Trading?s books and training.

The company?s average score on Google is 4.8 with 125 reviews. The company says this is a clear proof of their high-quality books and training methodologies. Don S. gave them 5 Stars on Google, stating that, ?Reading and listening to Marcus? down to earth and accessible advice regarding a complex subject matter is what separates him from the pack. He has an uncanny way of appealing to the ?simple and straightforward? in every one of us!?
