The Painting Pros is a long-standing company that takes pride in serving the professional painting needs of those in San Jose and the vicinity. Over the years they have established a reputation for doing exceptional commercial painting work. As part of their growth in the commercial painting area, they are now offering more of those types of painting services than ever before.

Company spokesperson, Cleve Dayton, has this to say about why they offer so many different commercial painting services, ?Although we do residential painting services too, the bulk of our work is done on the commercial side of things. This includes such large-scale painting projects as hospitals, government offices, athletic facilities, religious buildings, industrial buildings, and schools. You will never hear us say ?no? when it comes to doing even the biggest commercial painting projects. That?s the reason we have to be prepared to do any type of commercial painting that our clients ask us to do. We use all different types of paints and painting techniques in order to satisfy our commercial painting clients? requirements.?

Among the commercial painting services that they are well-known for is their exterior painting services. Cleve says all of their exterior commercial painting work is done by experienced crews using the latest and best equipment. He says they also offer many different types of interior commercial painting services. They take great care when doing these jobs to make sure that the paint only goes where it's intended to be. Cleve says they also do such things as use minimal odor low VOC paints and vent the area with fans when performing interior commercial painting work. He went on to add that they also offer a complete line of drywall repair and replacement services.

The company spokesperson says that one of the reasons so many commercial customers choose them is because they will work closely with the management to come up with a satisfactory painting schedule. He indicated that they do this in order to try not to interfere with a business?s day to day activities as much as possible. That includes scheduling the work during night and weekend hours if necessary.

Another factor that companies take into consideration before hiring The Painting Pros is all the different certifications that they possess. This includes Diamond Certification that very few businesses qualify for. The company spokesperson says that in order for any business to become diamond certified they must score 90% proficiency or higher in the areas of quality work and expertise. The company had to pass a rigorous 12-step process in order to get this much-coveted business certification. Peters informed that they are also a safe and certified ?Lead-Free? painter and were one of the first ?Certified Green? businesses in the area too.

Cleve went on to say that they not only do great painting work but they also focus on giving superior customer service too. He says that includes everything from the planning phase of any painting job to the final inspection of the completed project. Here is an example of that reflected in a review by customer Julie S. that says, ?They were especially skilled at helping me select colors. They have some kind of color guru working for them that helped me pick out the perfect color. I also thought the quality of the work was spot on, and I was very satisfied. They were also efficient, professional and nice. They did an overall great job.?

This company also has the experience and expertise that most businesses like. According to Mr. Dayton, they have been in business since 1978. He says that in addition to the many commercial painting services that they offer, they provide a variety of residential painting services too. They service a wide territory that covers such nearby San Jose communities as Los Gatos, Sunnyvale, Los Altos, Santa Clara, Saratoga, Almaden, Monte Sereno, Mountain View and Palo Alto.

For those looking to get information or an estimate from this San Jose painter, Peters says all they have to do is call them, send the company an email or fill out the contact form on the homepage of the company website.
