LITTLETON, MA - February 10, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Cestari Kitchen is pleased to announce the release of its innovative citrus juicer multitool onto the market. Well known for its high-quality kitchen gadgets, Cestari has responded to customer demand and the 5 in 1 juicer is the result.

Most people are now aware of the healthful benefits of fresh juice and Cestari received many inquiries as to whether the company would be adding a juicer to its existing range of kitchen gadgets. The company listened to its customer base and after research and development brought out a juicer designed to meet the requirements of its customers.

Unlike many other companies, Cestari Kitchen did not stop at just a simple juicer, but instead released a 5 in 1 juicer that can be used for more than just producing freshly squeezed juice.

The main idea was for people to be able to get the most juice they can from the citrus fruits of their choice.

Not everybody likes grapefruit or oranges and some people only want to squeeze lemons or limes. "One size fits all" is a very common saying but when it comes to squeezing citrus fruits that is simply not the case. A juicer that works well for a grapefruit or a full-sized orange will not work very well for a lemon or a lime. The reverse, of course, is also true. An ideal juicer for a lime will struggle to work with a large orange.

This is where the first of Cestari's innovations comes into play because unlike most manual juicers on the market, Cestari's citrus juicer comes with two reamers. There is a large one for fruits such as oranges and grapefruit and in addition, there is a smaller one for fruits such as lemons and limes.

Whichever juicer is used there is a built-in filter that will capture seeds and pulp. Obviously, if pulp is desirable then someone can simply spoon some back into the juicers measuring cup until the desired consistency is reached. If pulp is not desired, then the contents of the filter can be disposed of.

It is not just a juicer, however. It is also an easy to use corn stripper. All that is necessary to make fast work of what is normally a very frustrating job, is to push the corn cob through the cob stripping attachment. Its sharp blades will remove the kernels quickly and efficiently and they will fall into the integrated measuring bowl. The corn stripper also comes with a safety pusher to protect fingers so that every last kernel can be safely removed from the cob.

The multitool also has a grater and zester attachment. Capable of grating cheese, ginger, potatoes, chocolate and so much more. The grater fits onto the measuring cup which has a silicone non-slip base so that it is possible to see instantly how much has been grated.

Separating egg whites can be a messy and often difficult task. To make this task easier, there is also an egg separator as part of the 5 in 1 multitool. The juicer reamer simply flips over enabling it to become an egg separator. Again, it fits onto the measuring cup so that it is possible to see exactly how much egg white has been separated.

Cestari's space saving multitool was designed to be the best citrus juicer around and to help cooks and chefs get in and out of the kitchen fast. The citrus juicer uses food grade stainless steel and is completely food safe. It exceeds all FDA standards and in addition, it is bisphenol A (BPA) and phthalate free. The entire multitool set is dishwasher safe and its space saving design makes it ideal for both home and RV kitchens and comes with a lifetime "no questions asked" replacement guarantee.

Cestari Kitchen is a family-owned and operated company and is based in Massachusetts. It specializes in high-quality kitchen gadgets with an emphasis on speed and ease of use. More information about the citrus juicer multitool and products the company offers can be found on its website or on its Amazon store.
