A reputable house painter in O'Fallon MO, HBP Painting Contractors, wants people to know that they do more than just exceptional interior and exterior house painting work. This painting contractor also offers a long list of painting support and other general services. Those at the company feel that the wide variety of painting support services that they offer is what sets them apart from many of the other painting contractors in the O?Fallon area.

Company co-owner Cody Hartrum had this to say about some of their lesser-known services, ?Our motto might be ?prep, paint, and repeat? but our services certainly do not consist of only painting tasks. We at Hartrum Brothers Painting offer a wide variety of painting support services too. That?s why we refer to ourselves as one of the most complete painting contractors in the O'Fallon area. The painting support services that we do fill in the gaps between DIY work or work that other contractors have performed. Our painting support services also cover some jobs that not many companies besides us specialize in. They not only help some of our painting tasks go smoother but they also make things easier on our customers? because they don?t have to talk to many other companies to get these same support services done for them.?

Hartrum went on to say that some of the other services that their O'Fallon MO painting company does include pressure washing and popcorn ceiling removal. He says their pressure washing services are used by people who need their siding thoroughly cleaned before the company starts painting and also by those that just want to improve the looks of their home exterior, driveways, and sidewalks. The co-owner says that they started offering popcorn ceiling removal services after many of their clients indicated they thought it was an outdated form of ceiling decoration and many of them much preferred the look of smoother ceiling surfaces. Hartrum added that many people also do not realize that they both hang and remove wallpaper. He says these are two tasks that no one wants to do themselves without the right knowledge and equipment. Among the different types of wallpaper that they are proficient at installing include grass cloth, fabrics, vinyl, and other specialty wallpapers.

The co-owner says that they are experts when it comes to applying all different types of stains too. Many of their customers ask them to do such things as re-staining their custom decks or applying a fresh coat of stain to their fences. Once again, the owner emphasized that these are tedious tasks that no one wants to try and do themselves without the right know-how and equipment. According to Hartrum, the techs at HBP Painting Contractors also do a nice job of improving the looks of plain concrete services. They are specialists when it comes to applying concrete stains and paints.

Despite all of these painting support services that the company offers, Hartrum acknowledges that the residential interior and exterior painting work that they offer are still their bread and butter services. For over 30 years now the company has been satisfying their home painting customers in and around the O?Fallon, Missouri area. They even do difficult home interior painting tasks such as applying faux finishes and cabinet painting. HBP Painting Contractors has firmly established themselves as one of the leading commercial interior and exterior painting companies in their area too.

Hartrum also added that they are a company that places a huge emphasis on giving exceptional customer service and they are proud of the reputation they have established for getting their painting jobs done right the first time. In addition to O?Fallon, the company also provides painting and other services to those in Chesterfield, Cottleville, Lake St. Louis, and St. Charles, Missouri areas. The co-owner says that those who want to learn more about HBP Painting Contractors services can go to their website to get this information or they are welcome to call them directly and speak to a company representative.
