

Cestari's Highly Acclaimed Citrus Juicer Continues to Impress

February 20, 2020

LITTLETON, MA - February 20, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Cestari Kitchen is proud to announce that its Citrus Juicer multitool which was very well received upon its launch has continued to receive both high praise and positive reviews from users.

One happy reviewer said, "I was looking for something that I could do a quick juice, grate and zest with. Found this and it looked cool, so I purchased it. It works for all of those things very well, but much to my surprise, it also does some other cool things. For instance, I am constantly separating eggs. This handy device lets me easily separate and catch the whites in the container. I tested this first and it worked extremely well. I also grated some zest and that worked well. Going to try to grate cheese this week as well. It shows I can husk corn, but I have yet to do that. That would be worth three times what I paid if that works well, as we do that all the time."

As the reviewer noted, the citrus juicer is actually a five-in-one tool. As might be expected from a juicer there is a reamer that is ideal for smaller fruits such as lemons and limes. Small reamers, however, do not work well on larger fruits such as oranges and grapefruits. For that reason, Cestari has thoughtfully provided a second larger reamer that is ideal for full-size oranges or grapefruits.

The small reamer, when inverted, fulfills the function of an egg separator which fits on top of the measuring cup. There are other attachments that enable the multitool to act as a grater or zester and even one that means that corn can be easily and quickly stripped from a cob. There is a pusher that allows a user to safely strip the entire cob.

Even a casual glance over the various Amazon Citrus Juicer reviews will show that Cestari Kitchen's design is one of its most highly regarded gadgets. People are very favorably impressed with all the different functions that the multitool has. Cestari always gives a lot of thought to any kitchen gadget that it produces and the citrus juicer multitool is no exception.

The multitool is extremely sturdy and has been designed with ease of use in mind within the kitchen and it is intended to help save users both time and effort. Not only when used for food preparation but also during clean up as the whole citrus juicer and attachments are designed to be easily cleaned.

Another reviewer said, "I purchased this in hopes of eliminating some of the gadgets in my kitchen and it fits the bill perfectly. The grater is very sturdy and stays put while in use. I also appreciate that I did not scrape my knuckles while using it! Worked great as an egg separator and to strip corn as well. As a member of a local CSA, I get loads of corn in summer and this tool will get lots of use instead of my knife / cutting board method which was very messy (and probably not very safe). Also, love that it serves as a measuring cup and is dishwasher safe-cleaned up easy on the top rack. All in all, a great product in a small size that stores easily and at a very fair price."

Cestari Kitchen is a Massachusetts based business that is family owned and operated. The company is well known for its innovative and creative approach to high-quality kitchen gadgets and equipment.

Susan MacDowell, a spokesperson for Cestari Kitchen said, "We put a lot of thought into designing the multitool and our intention was to make it the best citrus juicer available anywhere. We were obviously pleased that it did well when it was released but the true test of how good a product is, is whether it maintains that initial momentum and it has not let us down."

Those interested in finding out more about Cestari Kitchen's citrus juicer can do so by visiting the company's website or Amazon where further reviews can be found.
