Banner Construction, a St. Louis, MO based construction company, is pleased to announce that they are now a certified Pella window contractor. Pella provides premium windows in a wide variety of styles that can greatly improve the appearance of any home, and Banner Construction has become a certified contractor of the premium window supplier. As a Pella certified contractor, Banner Construction has been recognized as a reliable installer of the premium windows and is guaranteed to expertly complete the installation process.

Pella has been a leader in the manufacture of innovative windows and doors since the early 20th century. The family owned company started in Pella, Iowa where they can still be found today. They have been awarded over one hundred and fifty product and design patents and continue to produce innovative new designs. The manufacturer of attractive, functional, energy-efficient windows is also well known for their Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED®).

?Pella?s desire to exceed expectations is proven in their innovative solutions for homeowners,? says Banner Construction. ?From dual-frame options, bi-fold patio doors to smart technology, Pella is always leading the way for creative designs. They have even outfitted a historic building near Wrigley Field with new windows to prevent breakage from players who hit home runs. Many benefits come with Pella?s premium replacement windows and other products. They can increase home value, help lower energy costs, improve security and make your home more comfortable. Pella products are easy to clean and maintain. Their goal is to allow the homeowner to live with ease and spend more time on the things that matter.?

Pella stands out among competitors in that the company is committed to providing the best quality and the most energy efficient products. They are also constantly on the lookout for ways to minimize waste and pollution in the manufacture of their windows and doors. Pella has been a volunteer partner in the US Environmental Protection Agency?s Energy Star program since 1999. Their commitment to creating products with superior energy efficiency makes them a prime candidate for such a program, and their contributions have not gone unnoticed. Their commitment to meet and exceed Energy Star certifications have led to the company receiving 9 Energy Star Partner of the Year awards.

With such high quality window and door related products as those produced by Pella, it is necessary to have the products installed by a professional contractor. As Banner Construction says, ?When you?re considering new windows or doors for your home, be sure to request an estimate from a professional, Pella certified contractor. Here at Banner Construction, we have undergone the extensive training that Pella offers. We want to assure our customers they are getting excellent service and proper installation of their Pella windows. You can be confident that we are committed to providing exceptional service and getting the job done right. Schedule a free consultation with our team to learn how Banner Construction can assist you with choosing a premium window or door for your home.?

Banner Construction has been recognized as a Pella certified contractor due to the company?s exemplary track record. The construction company maintains the highest standards regarding their work, and this has led to Banner Construction being recognized as a premier contractor. ?When it comes to considering an exterior restoration project, the single most important success factor is selecting the right contractor for the job,? says the construction company. ?There are a lot of remodeling contractors out there but few can match the experience and dedication to excellence we provide at Banner Construction. Hiring the right siding contractor or the right replacement windows contractor can be tough. There are a lot of reasons to replace the siding or the windows in your home. Understanding what is important to you is critical to the success of your exterior remodeling project.?
