February 21, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

SLFORCE LTD is extremely pleased to acknowledge the high praise they are receiving following the launch of their new product, a personal alarm. The alarm recently achieved a new milestone on the Amazon platform by accruing more than 50 positive customer reviews.

While it has only been a few months since the launch of the latest model of SLFORCE's personal alarms, this new product continues to be a must-buy for families across the breadth of the company's customer base, especially since it offers extra safety measures against a possible assault. Shahar, a representative of the company, says, "When we launched this product, we had a clear vision of it helping families feel safe and protected regardless of where they are. We wanted to bring peace of mind to our customers, whose main priority is securing the safety of their loved ones. We are very happy to support them in this matter and, judging by the response of our customers, they are happy as well."

The SLFORCE Safe Personal Alarm Siren Song has an outstanding review score of 4.9 Stars on its Amazon page, where over 70 customers have shared their experience with the product. In particular, these reviews tend to compliment the alarm's functional aspects as well as its appealing design. It is among the best-rated products for the same category on Amazon, living up to the high expectations set by other SLFORCE products.

In one such review, Lara Sean says, "I purchased a personal alarm because I enjoy walking alone during the late afternoon and early evening and, as a senior citizen and female, I wanted that security. I was so pleased with the SLFORCE that I purchased one each for my daughter-in-law and 14-year-old step-granddaughter. The item is small, attractively designed and easy to activate. When activated, it sends off a piercing signal that should be easily heard. Thus far, I haven't had to use it. However, having it gives me a good feeling of security."

The sound described by Sean as a 'piercing signal' is a 130 dB blast designed to attract the attention of passers-by, letting out a siren that is as loud as a military jet aircraft take-off. The vital seconds produced by this distraction should give the user enough time to flee the scene and immediately attract attention to themselves, discouraging the attacker from any further attempts of pursuit. This is due to the fact that attackers tend to prefer not to draw attention to themselves. The alarm also comes with an LED flashlight built into the keychain security alarm, giving its owner the ability to light their way if they get stranded in the dark.

SLFORCE built these functions into a smart and compact design, making the device easy to carry and allowing it to be attached to a bag, backpack or purse for quick access. It features a much more discreet design from their previous model, and this was an aspect that the company focused on heavily during development.

Using the SLFORCE Safe Personal Alarm is as simple as pulling the pin out of the device, which will activate the alarm until it is put back on. The alarm lasts up to one hour before turning off by itself, though it can continue working afterward as well (provided that the pin has not been lost and the battery has not been exhausted). Under normal circumstances, the built-in battery of these devices should last for one year of continuous use. New customers will be pleased to learn they are covered by SLFORCE's 6-month money-back guarantee.

Shahar says, "This product is a great purchase if you ever find yourself worrying about your family's safety. It is small enough that they can keep it at hand at all times, knowing that it will protect them if the need were to arise. Its ease of use makes it a great choice for people of all ages.?"

Those interested in buying a safe personal alarm from SLFORCE should visit the company's Amazon page where orders can be made for individual packages or sets of five. This page can be accessed here:
