August 27, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Post Falls, Idaho based Dickinson Insurance has announced that they are celebrating 31 years in the industry, and the company says they have no plans to go anywhere anytime in the near future. Founded in the early 1980's, the company began by serving clients in Idaho but has since begun assisting customers from all over the nation with insurance solutions that meet specific needs.

With regards to the company's long history and future plans, Angie Demmig, spokesperson for the company, said: "We fully appreciate every single customer that we've had over the years, and are dedicated to providing the best in services for many years to come."

The insurance agency was founded on July 9, 1984 by Jim Dickinson. In 1988, Jim's son, J.D. joined the company and purchased it in 2000. Company agents have a combined 110 years of experience in the insurance industry.

Dickinson Insurance offers a wide range of insurance services including those for business, personal, life and health, group benefits, and various other products. The company provides complete insurance solutions for individuals and businesses throughout Idaho, Montana, Washington, and 33 additional states. They work with clients to find solutions for homeowners insurance needs, as well as auto, antique and classic automobile, ATV insurance, and coverage for boats, home businesses, condos, earthquake coverage, and a number of other needs.

"We've been using Dickinson for the past 20 years," according to one customer. "I wouldn't dream of going with anyone else. These are the most caring, compassionate, and experienced people you will ever do business with."

An independent insurance agency, Dickinson Insurance represents a number of top rated insurance companies, including Safeco, Travelers, Mutual of Enumclaw, Progressive, Liberty Mutual, and Hartford among various others. The company's goal, and what has made them a popular choice for more than 30 years, is to create long term, personal relationships with their clients.

The agency supports a number of local charities, and has been a member of the Post Falls, Idaho Chamber of Commerce for more than 25 years. More about the company, including a full list of the insurance companies it represents, can be viewed at www.dickinsononline.com.
