White Plains Subaru dealership in New York just announced their lease special for the 2020 Forester. The lease offer highlights payments of $209 per month for 36 months, and $3,399 due at signing. The new Forester gets 33 MPG on the highway, 26 MPG in the city, and comes with standard symmetrical all-wheel drive. The Subaru Boxer engine includes auto-stop technology and reaches 182 horsepower. In addition, the Forester is equipped with an abundance of safety, comfort, and entertainment features.

Subaru's EyeSight technology comes standard in the 2020 Forester. EyeSight Driver Assist Technology is a feature that helps with throttle control, steering, and braking for a safer ride. It also optimizes traffic movement and has shown to reduce rear-end injury collisions by up to 85%, according to reporting by the IIHS. In the case of front-end collisions, the Forester is equipped with the Pre-Collision Braking feature and pre-collision throttle management. For even added safety, the Subaru DriverFocus? Distraction Mitigation System helps keep drivers focused and awake.

For comfort and security, the Subaru Forester has a climate-controlled remote engine start. The panoramic moonroof is available on the 2020 Forester for increased atmosphere and light. The second-row seats are heated and have their own A/C controls and USB ports.

Entertainment features include built-in WiFi Hotspot capabilities and Subaru Starlink Entertainment Anywhere system. The Forester is also capable of hands-free smartphone usage and can access news, radio, weather, and other apps through the Starlink system apps. Navigation is displayed on an 8-inch interactive screen and up to eight devices can connect simultaneously for all passengers in the car.
