American Hat Makers, based in Watsonville, California, has announced that they're coming together again with Head?n Home as the latter?s site migrates to their main site at American Hat Makers. Head?n Home is one of the brands that make up American Hat Makers. Other brands aside from Head?n Home include American Outback Hats, Ashbury Hats, Double G Hats, Freedom Hats, Solair Hats, Steampunk Hatter, Voodoo Hatter, and Couture Hats. American Hat Makers is a world-renowned leather hat manufacturer.

Gary Watrous, founder and president of American Hat Makers, says, ?We're happy to announce that we're migrating the Head?n Home site to our main site. This makes it more convenient for our customers since they'll only need to visit our American Hat Makers site. Nevertheless, take note that we continue to be the maker of the finest hats in America. Our skilled craftsmen and women bring their individual talents to work with them, and our creative design team fosters an environment in which the customers needs are met and exceeded every single time. We will work with you until you are more than satisfied with the finished product.?

American Hat Makers has developed a good relationship with tanneries, allowing them access to unlimited quantities of top quality raw materials for producing high quality leather hats. Their production facilities can process orders upwards of 26,000 sq ft of artisan quality leather. They're able to produce premium American hats with their hydraulic cutting machines, industrial laser engravers, industrial sewing machines, and airbrushing stations. Their state-of-the-art production floor is capable of handling large orders. On the average, they produce more than 1,000 hats every week.

HeadnHome is one of the major brands developed by American Hat Makers but there are others that are popular as well. For instance, American Outback Hats provides quality leather hats for people who love the outdoors. Ashbury Hats offer quality hats to protect the head from the heat. Double G Hats offers leather hats for those who want to experience how to be a cowboy. Freedom Hats offer hats for people who want to have the freedom to express their own personality.

Solair Hats offers hats that are designed to be worn under the sun. Steampunk Hatter is, of course, for those who want to follow the steampunk style of design and fashion. Voodoo Hatter is for those who want badass looking hats. The Head'n Home offers limited edition hats or one-of-a-kind hats for those who want to appear different from the others. And Couture Hats offer unique couture hats designed by Ruby Roxanne Agresta, who is known for designing wearable pieces including costumes and head couture pieces.

American Hat Makers also offers private labeling and white labeling services. Their private labeling services is supported by their creative design team who has been designing wearable art since 1973. The design team members have the natural talent to bring to life the client's ideas. The company sources its materials from top quality manufacturers and its design team has connections for getting exceptional additions to their production process. They will then spend a lot of time on the prototype phase, figuring out that right materials to use and how to assemble the various parts in the most effective way.

They are able to design and manufacture practically any style hat. These include the fedora, top hat, bowler, outback, Western, derby, couture, coachman, visor, stove pipe, cowboy, stingy brim, gambler, safari, derby, Panama, race day, steampunk, festival, costume, floppy, Kentucky, porkpie, cap, trilby, fascinator, military cap, and Aussie hat.

American Hat Makers also offers a wholesale program that is unparalleled in the industry. This is because of their insider knowledge regarding the shopping trends of the geographical locations and seasons that can guide clients towards those exact products that will maximize their profits.
