August 19, 2015

August 19, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Decoy Flocking Unlimited, a decoy flocking and waterfowl hunting business, has announced the addition of decoy flocking kits to their product lineup.

The new kits, which are for sale on the company's website, provide hunters with everything they need to professionally flock their own decoys. As experienced waterfowl hunting enthusiasts themselves, Decoy Flocking Unlimited knows the advantage properly flocked decoys provide.

Dan Schultz, owner of Decoy Flocking Unlimited, explained, "We understand the need for flocking better than most. We've seen the results. We also understand that many hunters buy new decoys when they don't need to and those can get expensive. Our decoy flocking kits allow you to flock your own decoys like a professional. Just like we do!"

The company currently offers flocking kits for mallard, goose, and blue bill decoys. The kits and the affordable price allow hunters to make their old decoys look new again, make them last much longer and save them money.

"Decoys aren't cheap," says Schultz. "They don't last forever either, but sharp-looking decoys are crucial to a successful hunt. Our kits and our services are designed to save you money."

Decoy Flocking Unlimited provides flocking and airbrushing services in addition to the do-it-yourself flocking kits. Hunters who have little time can also take advantage of other services, which range from $4.50 per head to $11 for full body.

The flocking kits sold by Decoy Flocking Unlimited include high quality nylon flocking and all of the tools needed to flock decoys. The company also offers gifts that are perfect for hunters, as well as an informative blog that keeps hunters up to date on various topics related to their sport.
