February 24, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

California based financial aid provider The Net Lender (TNL) is reaching out to comment on recent reports that the US economy may soon slow down. These reports state that, in 2019, recession risks were quite low but slower GDP growth may leave the US economy open to sudden, unexpected changes. This followed a period of above-average GDP growth over the past two years. The growth rate is, however, expected to slow down in 2020. The past two years of growth came from changes to fiscal policy and taxes along with the Job Openings Act.

With the economy slowing down, some people may find themselves in less comfortable circumstances, financially speaking. With job growth and other sectors of the economy being expected to shrink (relative to previous years), TNL states that it may be wise to have multiple emergency plans in place just in case one finds themselves in need of quick cash to pay off expenses. ?You can?t always be sure that you?ll always be able to make ends meet,? says The Net Lender. ?Economic growth is slowing down, and you might be one of the people affected by this. You might find yourself slightly behind your expenses in a few months, and this is not a position you want to be in. This is why it is important to make sure you know where to get quick cash when you need it.?

California residents live in one of the most expensive states in the country. As a result, changes in the economy will likely affect them the most. Fortunately, TNL is always available to provide financial aid when it is needed. One can get financial aid using their car title as collateral, the amount which they qualify to receive being determined by the value of their car. Unlike with traditional financial institutions like banks and other similar establishments, it is very easy to get financial aid at TNL.

The Net Lender does impose certain requirements that applicants for financial aid must meet in order to qualify but they are far less strict than banks. Since applicants use their vehicles as collateral, good credit is not a requirement when looking for financial aid. TNL?s financial aid service helps people access the cash they need quickly and easily without having to worry about their financial history. This means anyone that meets the basic requirements qualifies for cash from TNL. Find out who qualifies at

To qualify for financial aid, one must be 18 or older and be able to prove that they are above the age of 18. The applicant must also own the vehicle outright and have no liens against it. Furthermore, the title to the vehicle in question should be in their possession, along with current automobile insurance. Proof of residency as well as proof of dependable monthly income is required as well. Anyone who meets these very simple requirements can apply for financial aid from TNL and expect a very fast response.

The Net Lender focuses on helping people that seek financial aid instead of leaving them financially crippled and unable to pay back the cash they are given. The company's policy thus states that they will not give a client money that they cannot afford to pay back in a reasonable amount of time. "Our customer service representatives will discuss the terms and process so that you have a full understanding of how the whole thing works," says TNL. "You shouldn't be pressured into anything regardless of who you contact and, with us, you don't have to worry about any of that." Their blog has more information on the process, and it explains how exactly TNL's financial aid service works. Get more information here.

A number of clients have left great reviews of TNL on various platforms praising the company for helping them out of difficult financial situations. Jeremiah Lutes, in a review that can be found on TNL's website, states, "I am the head of the household, and I know of the pressure one can get from bills and discrepancies in their credit. I used the car I bought before I got married, and it turned out to be such a lifesaver for me. I took out about half of what I was offered and wasn't pressured any further. Thank you, and hopefully my car will be eligible again if need be."

Another client review shares that, "I came in directly after my work shift and was worried due to the time restraints that I wouldn't get my loan processed in time. Everything went smoothly and quickly but, most importantly, efficiently. Very friendly staff. I would recommend TNL for any person who needs money quickly."
