SeboCalm has certified that their moisturizer for sensitive skin rosacea is vegan and cruelty free. This means that the SeboCalm Soothing Face Moisturizer has not been tested on animals and neither does it contain animal derived ingredients. However, all of the SeboCalm products have undergone hypoallergenic and sensitivity tests at the Institute of Skin Research in Israel. The results indicated that it may be able to soothe symptoms of sensitive skin, rosacea, seborrheic dermatitis, and acne prone skin. Its two main ingredients are extracts from Aloe barbadensis and black cohosh root. And it does not contain cortisone, parabens, and sulfates, which can irritate sensitive skin.

The SeboCalm Soothing Face Moisturizer is for preserving daily skin moisture in a natural way. Users will find that it will feel non greasy and lightweight. In a clinical study, it has been found that it may be able to minimize the symptoms of rosacea, blemishes, seborrheic dermatitis, and acne. It is also recommended by dermatologists for skin itching and rash. The sensitivity tests and hypoallergenic tests conducted in Israel show that this soothing face moisturizer may be able to keep the skin pores minimized and that it may also be used as moisturizer after a person has been exposed to the sun and as an after-shave moisturizer.

Meanwhile, a SeboCalm product that can complement the soothing face moisturizer is a facial toner for sensitive skin. The SeboCalm Toner for Sensitive Skin has also been hypoallergenic and sensitivity tested. And the company also assures that this product is cruelty free and vegan. It has been clinically and dermatologically tested to be safe for the skin and certified to be free from alcohol, parabens, and sulfates.

The SeboCalm Toner for Sensitive Skin is based on plant ingredients. These are the cucumber and Aloe barbadensis extracts. And it also contains lactic and glycolic acid, which are known to possibly stimulate skin regeneration and get rid of dead skin cells. The extracts from cucumber and Aloe barbadensis, amino acids, and sugars are intended for softening the skin and for enhancing moisture binding.

Meanwhile, people who have already tried these SeboCalm products have left five star reviews on SeboCalm's Amazon page. For example, for the soothing face moisturizer, Melanda K. had given the product a five star rating and said, "So far I really like this moisturizer. It came packaged nicely. It has a nice and light airy scent that isn't too strong. It feels very refreshing on my face after exfoliating. And I really like the texture of it, it isn't too dense but it isn't runny either. It holds up very nicely and spreads very smooth. I have dry skin and most moisturizers make my skin feel hydrated for a little while and then it's back to dryness but this one has a lasting effect I haven't found with some others."

With regards to the toner for sensitive skin, Thraddash gave the product a five star rating and said, "I have huge pores and very sensitive skin. Most pore reducing products burn my face and leave me worse than I was before I used them. This, however, has been a miracle-working toner. Not only does it do exactly as it claims but it doesn't hurt my skin in the process. This is a company I truly trust and I really appreciate their use of quality products. I'd highly recommend this toner."

Meanwhile, another SeboCalm product that may also complement the soothing face moisturizer is a face wash for sensitive skin with acne. This is the SeboCalm Sensitive Skin Face Wash that is dermatologist recommended for sensitive skin. It has also been hypoallergenic and sensitivity tested. And it has also been ensured to be vegan and cruelty free. It is non oily and it is a facial cleansing soap that has been designed to eliminate dirt and minimize the appearance of blemishes. Its main ingredients are extracts from seaweed, cornmeal, chamomile, and coconut.
