March 28, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

OneCall, a nationwide home improvement service based in Houston, Texas, has announced that they are offering their help with regards to the air duct cleaning Fulshear TX homeowners are looking for. Air duct cleaning is vital for the home because it has been shown that indoor air is about two to five times more polluted when contrasted with the external air. And with people spending 90 percent of their time inside their homes, they will be breathing in the contaminated air, which may adversely affect their health. These contaminants can worsen respiratory diseases like asthma, heart disease, and may even affect those with cancer.

Dona Vernon, a spokesperson for OneCall, says, "Air ducts are an essential component of any heating, ventilation, and air conditioning (HVAC) system. They are the pathways for heated or cooled air to travel throughout your home. Periodic air duct cleaning removes dust and other contaminants that accumulate over time inside your air ductwork. Millions of Americans suffer from allergies due to a variety of airborne contaminants, many of which are found in indoor environments and are disseminated through your air ducts."

Aside from Fulshear, people in various other cities in Texas can rely on OneCall to find quality air duct cleaning services. These cities include Addison, Houston, Pearland, Bellaire, Richmond, Bardwell, Colleyville, Argyle, Cedar Hills, Driftwood, Bulverde, Dallas, Galena Park, Crosby, Floresville, Hurst, Euless, Hockley, Lavon, Grey Forest, La Vernia, Memorial, Katy, Marion, Pipe Creek, Lockhart, Oak Ridge North, Rowlett, Needville, Rockwall, South Houston, Prairie View, Shoreacres, Victoria, Schertz, The Colony, West University Place, Staples, Woodcreek, and many more.

And for those who require Manvel TX air duct cleaning services, OneCall can also provide the necessary assistance. OneCall wants to remind homeowners and other property owners that they need to have their air ducts regularly cleaned to protect the health of the people living inside the home or building. This will make sure that the HVAC system will not just be functioning properly but will also be clean. If people breathe in the dust, mold, fungi, dirt, and other pollutants that are floating in the air, this can make them suffer from allergies, or worsen their health condition if they are already suffering from an illness. Furthermore, these pollutants in the air may also be an extra load for the furnace or air conditioning system, forcing them to work harder, and this can cause the energy bills to go up and may result in the need for more frequent repairs.

In addition, the dust, mold, fungi, and other allergens may not just be found inside the air ducts. They may also build up on the blower fan, furnace controls, and motor or air conditioning coils. Having air duct cleaning experts do the work will ensure that these contaminants will be eliminated wherever they are found. The air duct cleaning professionals have the necessary experience and knowledge as to where these contaminants are often found and tend to build up and how to eliminate them. OneCall serves as a way for homeowners and other property owners to find the air duct cleaning professionals that they need to make sure that the air ducts and other parts of the HVAC system are appropriately cleaned.

The air ducts are where the cooled air or heated air pass through in order get to various parts of the home or building. If there are indoor air pollutants such as dirt, mold, fungi, and other allergens like pet dander, smoke, dust, pollen, insect debris, these can get stuck and build up in various parts of the air ducts. If the air ducts are not cleaned, these things will be recirculated into the air and may get inside the lungs of the people inside the home. This may have health consequences, such as headaches, dizziness, disorientation, nausea, and fatigue.

People who are interested in the OneCall Fulshear Texas assistance service for air duct cleaning can visit the OneCall website or contact them through the phone or via email. They are open 24 hours a day, every day.
