February 26, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

UK based Intire Letting Agents Bristol is pleased to shine a spotlight on company founder and Managing Director Atif Javid, whose efforts are primarily responsible for the stellar success that they have enjoyed in the field. Originally a corporate lawyer with Burges Salmon in Bristol, Javid decided to pour his fascination with property into a business that now delivers industry-leading property management services for property investors in Greater Bristol. As a corporate lawyer, Javid wanted to work with a company that would allow him to manage his own properties more effectively, with a particular emphasis on certain services that he felt he required in a Bristol letting agent. Fortunately, his legal background, combined with experience as a property investor and developer, allowed him to create Intire with the express purpose of developing the service he believed both he and the market required. His goals were two-fold: to utilize these services to manage his own properties as well as share the benefit of his unique expertise with the wider community of investors.

Today, Intire has grown into a prestigious agency that is supported by a team of letting agents who share Javid's vision for the industry as well as his dedication to encouraging its growth. The company's services primarily revolve around systems and property practices that Javid successfully implemented himself. According to Intire Letting Agents Bristol, these practices are based on the results of numerous experiments that Javid carried out in his early days with Intire. Not every experiment was a success at the time, but Javid states that his miss-steps only served to provide additional insight on the direction he would need to take the company in order to reach its present state.

Through their office in Downend, the letting agents at Intire specialize in leveraging their unique resources to supply their clients with high quality tenants. While the agency also boasts a deep pool of knowledge regarding the intricacies of the local area, this facet of their services is what sets them apart. "Not only do we have detailed knowledge of Bristol and the local areas based on years of experience as a Bristol letting agency," says Intire, "but we can get you the high quality tenants you're looking for including those looking to relocate to the Bristol area."

They continue, "If you happen to be a landlord looking for a valuation on your property or house, we are more than capable of doing that for you as well. Furthermore, we do not charge for this part of our services. Our property management and lettings services also come with a completely transparent fee structure designed with landlords like you in mind. Like every other Bristol landlord that uses our lettings services, you can enjoy a letting agent in Bristol that genuinely wants to make you happy. Your success is our success." Notably, the agency's online reviews are a close reflection of their claims. In a glowing 5-Star review recently shared on the Google platform, for instance, Alex McIlwraith says, "I was very satisfied with the level of customer care provided by the team at Intire. I was particularly impressed with the professionalism across the whole process of first enquiry to moving into the property. The inventory was particularly useful, and it was the most efficient service I have experienced as a tenant. The team has been very responsive to all enquiries over both phone and email. I would definitely recommend Intire to friends and family."

Similarly, an older review from Marie Lechevallier shares that, "We've been happy to deal with Intire. The communication during the whole application process was quick, friendly and professional. The agents we've met were very nice, well informed and willing to help. Frankie has been very clear about every detail of the house during the viewing and the appointment to get the keys. We liked that all our details were required from the beginning (and not only the holding deposit, like in most agencies). It made us feel like Intire cared enough to make sure that we were in a capacity to get the house before starting the process."
