Alpha Therapeutics LLC, a cannabidiol (CBD) manufacturer based in Phoenix, Arizona, allows customers to buy CBD wholesale. They want to inform CBD businesses that they are able to comply with all of their white label and wholesale CBD oil manufacturing requirements. They are a private label CBD manufacturer that has the necessary experience and knowledge on how to provide a range of high quality CBD products directly or as a white label producer of CBD products. They will work with clients to make sure that a unique formula is developed to comply with the required product development.

Geoff Dada, CEO of Alpha Therapeutics, says, "Our firm will work with clients to ensure that a new formula is developed to meet the specific product development. The development cycle doesn't have to require months or years to go from an idea to a prototype. Our company has the knowledge and expertise to develop challenging formulations for many products including those in the beauty industry. We offer assistance to help identify the right mix of ingredients for your specific product. Our company can adjust sizes, labels, testing requirements, without any risk of sacrificing the high manufacturing standards of the CBD products."

CBD oil that is used for medical purposes are extracted from the cannabis plant called hemp. It should be pointed out that this is different from the marijuana that farmers selectively breed to maximize the amount of tetrahydrocannabinol or THC. THC is the psychoactive compound that is responsible for the "high" that is provided by recreational marijuana.

It is through their CBD manufacturing facility that Alpha Therapeutics is able to ensure that the customer formulation process includes potency guarantee, quality assurance, rapid development, true labeling, consultant's advice, research and development, and creative design. Certified laboratories, testing, stringent inspection, and oversight of the manufacturing plants' growth standards are considered by Alpha Therapeutics to be of vital importance.

One of the products available from Alpha Therapeutics is an organic CBD massage oil. This particular product has been assured to be made of 100 percent organic ingredients, such as MCT, high oleic sunflower oil, hemp seed oils, terpenes, and cannabinoids. It is intended for use in whole body massage. Another CBD product from Alpha Therapeutics is the topical CBD transderm healing balm that can be applied at the site of pain.

Other CBD products for people that are offered by Alpha Therapeutics include the CBD System Tincture, which is intended to be applied under the tongue for immediate absorption and then swallowed. There is also the Live Hemp CBD Oil with syringe style applicator. This contains high quality cannabinoids, essential vitamins, chlorophyll, fatty acids, and minerals.

Alpha Therapeutics also offers a Full Spectrum Soft Gel with each soft gel infused with carbon dioxide extracted, concentrated CBD oil from agricultural hemp. Each gel contains 25 mg of CBD and this exact amount is assured for every serving. However, this product may contain THC. Also offered is a Broad Spectrum Soft Gel with each soft gel infused with carbon dioxide extracted concentrated CBD oil from agricultural hemp and it also contains 25 mg of CBD. This product has been assured not to contain THC.

Aside from CBD products for humans, Alpha Therapeutics also offers CBD products for dogs. The Pet 500 with one bottle containing 30 ml in volume and 500 mg of CBD oil for dogs. This high quality CBD oil may help with dog seizures.

It should be noted that it was only recently that the FDA had approved the prescription use of CBD oil for treating two types of epilepsy. Several types of cannabinoids are contained in the cannabis plant. These are able to create their effect on the body by attaching to receptors, which are the CB1 and CB2 receptors. These receptors may be involved in how the brain controls certain functions. The CBD oil does not actually attach to the receptors but instead stimulates the body to use the cannabinoids that it produces.

Those who are interested in the organic CBD topical balm, organic massage CBD oil, and other products from Alpha Therapeutics or want to buy wholesale can check out their website, or contact them on the telephone or through email.
