NORFOLK, Va. ? Local Norfolk custom engraving authority has proven their dependability and their expertise for years, solidifying them as a top retailer in North America. G & W by Allogram South is pleased to highlight that their years of experience as the Norfolk?s largest awards store has led to a membership in the coveted Award Associates of America.

Created in 1972, the Award Associates? mission is that of combining the purchasing power of shareholders ? to reduce product and equipment costs for members ? allowing them to manufacture and sell products at competitive prices. Comprised of 66 of the leading award manufacturers/retailers in North America with nearly 100 locations, the organization?s ongoing mission is to continually discover, test and implement new technology, and product designs allow members to be leaders in the awards industry.

The AAA family is a cohesive and powerful organization where members get to know and support one another. Spanning over four decades, the organization has often been the first to test market many of the new innovations in technology and product design in the awards industry. Camaraderie, benchmarking and learning best practices are a few of the intangible benefits members experience that manifest into tangible results in their individual companies.

G & W by Allogram South recognizes the importance of this membership as another demonstration of their longstanding positive reputation within the community for Norfolk engraving. The locally owned and operated business is always looking to improve ways to service their customers. Membership of the Award Associates of America demonstrates they are committed to continually bettering their business.
