February 27, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Philadelphia, PA - The experienced Philadelphia workers? comp lawyers at Schuster Law have announced the opening of a new location.

?Our workers? compensation law firm has been helping injured workers in Philadelphia for more than thirty years. This new local law office will allow us to continue that work and to also take part in community organization and events,? shared Ken Schuster, the founding attorney at Schuster Law.

Over the past three decades, the Philadelphia workers? compensation attorneys have fought aggressively against big name insurance companies, seeking coverage for their clients through workers? compensation insurance. The legal team has helped thousands of injured workers, not only helping to correctly complete initial workers? compensation claims but also handling the appeals process for those whose claims have been denied.

?Over and over our legal team has seen legitimate claims denied for a simple mistake. The last thing any injured worker needs to deal with is the stress of fighting with the insurance company when they are trying to heal from a work injury or illness. We believe injured workers should be fairly compensated for their medical expenses and lost wages and we fight to ensure that happens," said Schuster.

When a client obtains a case review at Schuster Law, the lawyers also determine if that client is eligible to pursue other forms of compensation through a personal injury lawsuit. This lawsuit can provide additional compensation for medical expenses, lost wages, physical pain, and emotional trauma.

From their new Philadelphia location, the Schuster Law lawyers will provide services to clients in Center City, Old City, Fitter Square, Bella Vista, Graduate Hospital, South Philadelphia, Port Richmond, Northern Liberties, and Chinatown.

The office can be found at: Schuster Law 1339 Chestnut St #500, Philadelphia, PA 19107, USA. The phone number for the office is (215) 848-9200.
