February 29, 2020

February 29, 2020 -
Chantilly, VA- Leading Chantilly corporate gifts store Award Crafters is excited to display for their community their current trophy design and production process. Since the awards industry is always inventing and innovating their design processes, it?s important to Award Crafters to stay up to date with these new processes.

For trophies, they are keeping their production process fairly similar to previous years. However, the promotional gifts store in Chantilly, VA is always looking for ways to incorporate higher quality materials in both the trophies and the tools used to create them.

Currently, Award Crafters starts the trophy design process like any other award: with the client. Award Crafters stressed that they wouldn?t be here if it wasn?t for their customers. Since the clients are so important to them, Award Crafters stresses how important it is to ensure that their team and the client are on the same page when designing the award. Award Crafters? team painstakingly tweaks each design until the client is completely satisfied with it. No matter how much the trophy design process changes, Award Crafters? stated they will never bypass this important step.

After designing the trophy with the client, they produce the trophy. The process itself has changed greatly over the years. Currently, Award Crafters creates a mold for the trophy and then creates it. Once the trophy has molded and hardened, they engrave and paint the trophy according to the client?s request.

According to Award Crafters, 2020 is going to be a year full of exciting things for the awards company. They?re looking forward to the continual growth of their business and the new developments for their awards.
