

Mississauga Company Touts the Benefits of Using Their Shower Meister Shower Filters

March 09, 2020 -
Showermeister is a Mississauga, Ontario company that specializes in all different types of bathroom equipment including showerheads, shower cabins, bathtubs and much more. One of the most popular shower products that this company sells at the present time is what are known as shower filters. The company feels that the shower filter products that they offer would be hard to keep in stock if more people realized all the benefits that these innovative shower add-ons have to offer.

Company spokesperson, Mike Chrest, elaborated on this further by saying, ?Every once in a while, someone comes up with a product that offers so many advantages that it?s hard to believe that no one thought of its practicality sooner. That is exactly the case with our shower filter products. Once people realize the benefits that they have to offer, people immediately start to inquire further about them. They are fast becoming one of our best-selling items and those who have tried them often consider them to be a ?must-have? shower add-on from that point on.?

Chrest went on to say that for those people who are not familiar with shower filters, they are a very simple item to install that comes in a variety of shapes and sizes. Shower filters are canisters that fit in place between the end of the incoming water supply pipe and a showerhead. They work because they form a barrier that forces water to pass through the filter instead of simply going into the showerhead and then immediately back out the holes in it. This allows them to do such things as filter out tiny particles in water that contain minerals and other solids that cause scale. He says they are also designed to filter out less desirable chemicals found in water such as chlorine and fluoride. The spokesperson went on to say that shower filters are a much cheaper option than a whole-house water filtration system and they work great as long as someone replaces them according to the manufacturer's recommendations.

One of the main reasons that people like to use Showermeister Shower Filters, according to Chrest, is that people feel shower filters tend to help them avoid some of the skin problems that are associated with hard water. The minerals in hard water are known to both be an irritant to some and a main cause of dry skin problems. He says that because they catch so many of the minerals present in well water, shower filters also can cut down on some of the foul odors that sometimes are present in this type of water. This includes the harsh smell of Sulphur in water that many people detest.

Chrest says that many people also like the way their hair feels after showering with a shower filter securely in place. That?s because the small particles of minerals that are present in both city water supplies and well water are mostly removed by a shower filter. That means these minerals do not build up as easily in a person?s hair when they go to wash it. People say this makes their hair feel like it?s smoother and not as dry as a result.

One example of a good showerhead that the company recommends is the Aqua Elegante Luxury Shower Filter. The company spokesperson says this shower filter is designed to last for up to six months depending on the number of minerals that are present in someone?s tap water. Chrest says it not only eliminates minerals but it also is said to filter out 90% - 95% of the chlorine that tries to pass through it when someone is taking a shower. The manufacturer claims that it?s easy to install and they are willing to back its performance up with a full money-back guarantee.

Chrest finished by saying there really is no good reason for anyone not to want to install a shower filter. He says they are inexpensive and can easily be installed by a homeowner using a few simple tools. That means there is not much risk to anyone who wants to try one out for themselves.
