San Antonio, Texas based personal injury law firm Carabin Shaw P.C. is pleased to announce the launch of their new website. It is designed to help the firm reach out to clients in El Paso, Odessa, Midland, Big Spring, Pecos, Fort Stockton, Ozona, Carlsbad, Kermit and Monahans. People in these areas who may be in need of a personal injury attorney for any reason at all can finally end their search with Carabin Shaw P.C. "You don't have to worry about looking for an attorney to represent you anymore," says the personal injury law firm. "We are expanding to a location near you, and you can rely on us to represent you in court."

With oil exploration increasing in the Permian Basin, it might be a good idea to have a personal injury lawyer on hand to help in case one finds themselves facing a personal injury case. More oil exploration means more people taking on somewhat risky jobs in the area as well as more heavy machinery being in the general vicinity, which increases the likelihood of someone being injured (and a company being reluctant to pay compensation for the injury). Carabin Shaw is ready and willing to help with such cases, with a team of lawyers on hand to help one get the compensation they deserve in the event of an injury. One of the biggest problems one may face after an accident, be it in the workplace or on the road, is the sheer cost of medical care, both in terms of time and money as well as the mental strain it can cause. You have to make time to see the doctor, the personal injury law firm states. Depending on the nature of your injury, you may need physical therapy or other additional treatment. On top of your medical appointments, you have to take time away from work, which could cause you to lose wages. The pressure of mounting expenses can leave you feeling overwhelmed, and you may exhaust your insurance benefits or run out of any paid time off from work long before your medical treatment is complete. Now, you face having to take unpaid leave from work and wondering how you will care for yourself and your loved ones.

Carabin Shaw makes it a point to ensure that every one of their clients is free of the stress that situations like these can cause. The firm was founded 25 years ago to fight for the rights of victims of auto accidents, trucking accidents, 18-wheeler accidents, motorcycle accidents and worksite accidents. They boast over 200 years of combined experience, and the attorneys at Carabin Shaw have won a total of over 36,000 personal injury and wrongful death cases. The firm is dedicated to representing only individuals (and families of individuals) who have been injured or wrongfully killed in accidents and does not work with any insurance companies or corporations. This means that one can trust the lawyers at Carabin Shaw to have no further interests beyond making sure the rights of their clients are recognized and upheld. A number of clients have left great reviews of the personal injury attorney's services on multiple platforms. One review from a client named Dan states, "This law firm did a great job in making me feel comfortable and assured that my case, and my wife's case, was in good hands. Joseph helped me out a lot and even went the extra mile to stay in contact. In the end, I had the rough end of the case, though I technically won. Mr. Shaw helped me out even more. Though I hope to never need the services [again], if I do, it shall be with this firm. Thank you!"

Another client, Virginia, says, "I went in the office to have a meeting about our case, I had my children with me at the time. The front receptionist was so kind and amazing! They offered my children and I refreshments and also gave them complimentary take home goodies! My kids were so happy, and I was very pleased and impressed with Mr. Shaw's staff. They are very professional and handled our cases with care from the beginning. I highly recommend this firm to everyone! For more information on the firm, visit <https://carabinshaw.com>.
