greenGabbard LLC - SEO Agency Henderson, Nevada, has announced that they have recently performed a revamp of their internal operation procedures, infrastructure, and office equipment for their staff. With those improvements they expect to better serve their customers. The Henderson search engine optimization firm offers SEO, Google My Business management and optimization, and lead generation.

Micah Gabbard from greenGabbard LLC says, "With our latest improvements, we expect to enhance the services that we provide, one of which is SEO. Our SEO service helps our clients get better online visibility for their brand, thus, resulting into more traffic. And with more traffic, a client will get more leads, which can be transformed into customers. SEO is one of the greatest investments for getting targeted site visitors. And it is crucial to remember your SEO is the amount of everything that you're doing, from your blog posts to your link building to your social networking outreach."

They want to point out that content remains the most important factor when it comes to developing an online presence for small businesses. An SEO marketing agency can help with this, particularly in the development of thought-provoking and compelling content that can help the site rank first on Google search for the client's chosen keyword. Proper content can also help establish the reputation of the company as a trusted brand. For this, it is vital to have engaging content that will drive traffic from organic search and social media.

An SEO agency like greenGabbard LLC can also help a client in establishing brand reach and reputation online. This is important for business survival because statistics has shown that about 82 percent of businesses are unable to bring in enough profit to sustain themselves. Even if the business' product or service is outstanding, without an effective marketing strategy, the business may never achieve success. Having an online presence with an effective online marketing strategy does not only provide leads and sales, but it is also a bulletproof way to success.

Meanwhile, lead generation is an important result of the SEO process of optimizing online content so that search engines will likely put the website on the first page of search results for a specific keyword. What the professionals from greenGabbard LLC do is to optimize the content or article to be published on the client's site and ensure that the search engines like Google will highly likely include the website as one of the top results whenever somebody is searching for a particular keyword. This can get the business more leads, and more calls, particularly from the business's targeted audience.

Meanwhile, Google My Business (GMB) is a service from Google that provides businesses with a free business profile. GMB allows the business to provide important information, including NAB and business hours. It also indicates the business on Maps, making it easy for clients to find the business's office, and clients can also leave a review or feedback about the company.

The professionals at greenGabbard LLC can help businesses optimize their GMB listing. GMB is especially important for local SEO as it offers important local information for a particular business. And with its Maps feature, potential customers may immediately decide to visit the business if they happen to be near the location. GMB can be used by a business to complement their existing website, providing the business with a public presence and identity. And as a bonus, the information provided on GMB can also appear in Google Search and Google Maps.

The first step in getting one's Google My Business listing up and running is to perform a Google search to make sure that the business doesn't already have a GMB listing. For businesses that have already been around for awhile, they will likely already have a GMB listing and all that the business has to do is claim it. After successfully claiming the GMB listing, the business can start managing the information on that listing, filling out any missing information.
