March 16, 2020 -
Calgary, Alberta based Corefront Custom Renovations is reaching out to the community to share the success of one of their most recent renovation projects.

Choosing a professional contractor to carry out their renovations is an important task that every homeowner should devote their attention to when the occasion calls for it. When a broad range of choices are available and there is no clear way to make out the best company in terms of reliability and experience, homeowners are left wondering what they can do to narrow their options down. Fortunately, client reviews can be a good indicator of a company?s worth, and Corefront is pleased to share that their own clients have been busy writing about the company?s merits in recent times. This spate of positive reviews follows the conclusion of multiple projects that the company carried out to their clients? total satisfaction.

One of these reviews, written by Kel, says, "We recently completed a home renovation project with Corefront and were very pleased with the entire process and result. We replaced our dated kitchen as well as expanded the renovation to include new ceilings, railings, lighting and flooring throughout our home. The whole project was well-organized from beginning to end: initial planning and cost estimates, creation of a design plan and selection of everything from cabinets to flooring, etc., demolition and construction and final installation and finishing. Throughout, the continuous communication and onsite supervision resulted in the project proceeding well. All the trades used were professional and resulted in an excellent finished product. We would have no reservations about recommending Corefront to anyone else."

Lewis Cowie, a representative of Corefront Custom Renovations, elaborates, "While our client had very clear ideas about what they wanted their new kitchen to look like, some adaptations were needed to make it look as good as possible. Fortunately, they were open to these changes. Moving forward, it went even better than we expected as we were able to finish the project in record time, which is always a huge positive."

Cowie notes that their team is always open to helping their clients consider all their options and choose the best direction to take with their renovations. He states that they tend to lay out every available option based on the clients? budget, goals, needs and the desired look that they want for their space.

He adds, "We can help you plan the scale of your project based on your budget, either leaving space for future improvements or going all-out with the renovations. We'll advise you on the best design ideas based on you and your family's lifestyle, presenting you with a list of materials and the time required to make it happen. We are here to bring your renovation projects to life, and we will make sure that these Corefront home Calgary renovations go according to your specifications."

Corefront Custom Renovations handles a variety of home projects, including Bedroom, Kitchen, Bathroom and Living Room renovations. Their services are always carried out by a highly qualified team of contractors. As a result, their clients can rest assured that these licensed and insured professionals will take care of everything and bring their project to fruition. The company's insurance protection is included within the estimated cost for these renovations as well, guaranteeing the safety and well-being of everyone involved and protecting each client's property from accidents.

Cowie says, "We will help you design your renovations based on a combination of aesthetic and functional priorities, making sure that you feel comfortable at all times with your new space. We believe in beautiful spaces that serve a purpose, and we'll make sure that you see the benefits of hiring an experienced custom renovation company in Calgary."
