

Simpsons International Removals Still To Take Goods To Europe Following Brexit

April 02, 2020

Dartford, Kent - April 02, 2020 -
UK based Simpsons International Removals Ltd is pleased to inform their customers that they are expanding their services for removals to Europe due to the expected increased demand later in the year. The company states that they are willing and able to facilitate removals for those who wish to move to Europe and vice versa, before the forthcoming changes due to Brexit. Even though the UK is no longer part of the European Union post-Brexit, the company believes that their services will continue to grow in demand for the foreseeable future as people continue to look to move and retire to European countries.

The UK is currently in a transition period following Brexit, which is why Simpsons is keen to reassure customers that they may ship their personal effects and household goods to any destination in Europe with the same expectations as they had prior to Brexit. The transition period will end on 31st December 2020, until which time the free movement of goods and personal effects between the UK and EU / EEA countries may continue. However, regulations regarding shipments may change after this date, or new regulations may be added. While the company stands ready to tackle any upcoming changes in order to serve their customers to the best of their ability and minimize (or eliminate) any reduction in service, they also look forward to helping customers who wish to take advantage of the grace period.

Simpsons International Removals state, ?We know exactly what you?re looking for if you?re planning a future move to Europe from the UK: a cost-effective and reliable way to transport your furniture and other cargo. Fortunately for you, we specialise in international as well as European removals, and you can rest assured that your belongings will be safe in our care. Thanks to our long history in the business, we have a great deal of experience in helping our customers relocate from one country to another. This effectively means that you can rely on us to take care of everything for you. Moving to a new European destination need not be the stressful endeavour that you feared it would be.?

Customers who work with Simpsons International Removals are often pleased to learn of the affordable rates that the company offers, and Simpsons is able to offer such rates due to the clever ways that they allocate their resources behind the scenes. By reducing their operational costs, the company is able to offset these cost benefits to their customers. For instance, Simpsons relies on large European road trains to move any cargo entrusted to them. Thanks to economies of scale, this means that the cost of moving cargo across multiple national borders is not as high as it would be if they were to use more conventional removal vans.

Notably, the company is not limited to destinations that can be accessed by road. Should their customers wish to move to offshore destinations, such as the Canary Islands, Balearics, Malta and Cyprus, Simpsons is more than capable of providing their services by sea. Other popular destinations include the Netherlands, Sweden, Greece and more, though these can be accessed through more typical routes.

They also offer a dedicated full load door-to-door service, where their packers will export wrap a customer?s household contents, for delivery to their new home in Europe at a planned date, subject only to driving hours restrictions. If required, this service can also include a period of storage. The company recommends that customers ask about their part-load service, especially if budgets are a concern.

Simpsons? concludes, ?Despite the UK leaving the EU, there is still a close connection between British people and Europe. Many still seek the dream of living a life in the sun, so destinations such as Alicante in Spain, Provence in France and the island of Cyprus are still very popular. Simpsons has a strong international logistics network and is able to help people with both full house removals and part load removals between the UK and the rest of Europe.?
