They want to point out that everyone has hemorrhoids. It is just that people only become aware of them when they get swollen, inflamed, or painful. Hemorrhoids are actually swollen veins or tissues in or around the lower rectum and the anus. There are various treatment options for hemorrhoids that can be provided at the Premier Hemorrhoid Center.

Caren, a spokesperson for the Premier Hemorrhoid Center, says, "There are many procedures that can be done for hemorrhoids; both non-surgical and surgical including hemorrhoidectomy, rubber banding, hemorrhoidal arterial ligation (HAL), laser treatment, and harmonic scalpel. After your examination, your doctor will choose the best option for you. Some of these procedures can be done in the office. Call our staff today and we will answer any questions you have. Not only will our doctors treat your existing conditions, we also will work with you to prevent future hemorrhoids from occurring and educate you on the best diets to follow and tasks to avoid. We strive to help you improve your quality of life, achieve your wellness goals, and heal your body so that you can live your best life possible."

There are various forms of hemorrhoids: internal, external, thrombosed external, and prolapsed internal. Internal hemorrhoids are generally out of sight because they are located inside the rectum or up the anal canal. They are usually a mild form of hemorrhoid and rarely cause discomfort. However, these can get irritated, damaged and bleed if they are subjected to strong forces as a result of a person straining during bowel movement. When an internal hemorrhoid protrudes, it may collect microscopic stool particles that may produce an itchy feeling. Unfortunately, excessively wiping it to relieve the itch can cause the problem to become worse.

External hemorrhoids are located under the skin around the anus. They are usually blue in color and stretch out the external skin, resulting into blood clots that when dissolved, may leave skin tags. These are often inflamed and are very painful. They may also itch or bleed. These can become thrombosed hemorrhoids, which are filled with blood clots and are extremely painful. There may be swollen lumps on the outer parts of the anus, and while these are not usually regarded as dangerous and may heal themselves, they can be very painful.

There are various kinds of hemorrhoid treatments that they can provide. The best procedure available is the THD Doppler Hemorrhoid System. This particular treatment offers various advantages, such as less pain, fast recovery, lasting results, and most of all, no cutting or removal of tissue. Doppler sound is used to accurately locate the blood supply for the hemorrhoidal veins. Elimination of this blood supply gets rid of the hemorrhoids. The surgeon will make use of absorbable sutures that will not need to be removed and patients can return to their normal activities almost immediately with minimal post-operative discomfort. This is an outpatient procedure and same day service. Recovery from procedure using the THD Doppler Hemorrhoid System is usually only a few days.

There various other hemorrhoid treatments, including at-home remedies like Sitz baths, pursuing a diet with substantial amounts of fiber, or using an over the counter topical cream. However, if large hemorrhoids are present and they are often painful, inflamed, and recurring, surgical treatment is usually suggested. It is advisable to consult with a doctor because it is vital the have the anal area examined to confirm hemorrhoids and rule out more serious issues and diseases, including cancer.

Feedback from previous patients of Premier Hemorrhoid Center have been mostly five star reviews, whether on Yelp or Google. For instance, in a recent review on Yelp, Danny W. gave them five stars and said, "I was in so much pain for the last weeks. Dr. Ron helped a lot. I feel like I can live again. A friend of mine suggested I call Dr. Ron and the Premier Hemorrhoid Center. I am so glad I did. Thanks again."
