March 16, 2020 -
Many families in South Carolina are now benefiting from the long-term care plan offered by Korthase Insurance, the Best Health Insurance Company in Hilton Head, SC.

Through their long-term care plan, the private health insurance company helps lessen the financial burden of families with aging loved ones. Long-term care insurance can cover nursing homes, assisted living facilities, or in-home care fees. It can also be used to pay for in-home health aid.

Korthase Insurance points out that getting long-term care insurance can help family members avoid financial burdens as well as conflicts in the future. Getting a long-term care plan early would enable each family member to contribute to the policy. It can also save the family from paying hefty expenses in supplies and other things needed in caring for old loved ones.

There are various types of long term care plans. The most basic policy can cover in-home aid pay for a few hours. While it is less expensive, it does not include a residential care service. On the other hand, an extensive policy can cover fees for nursing homes or residential facilities.

While some are still skeptical of long-term care policies, Korthase Insurance stressed that this type of insurance is worth investing in. ?Long-term care plans can protect you for the cost of a nursing home stay if needed. However, if you never need to use it, you or your children will get all of your money back. Best of both worlds,? the Best Hilton Head, SC Insurance Agency says.

With the complicated financial realities of aging, Korthase Insurance offers financial advice on the best health care plans to invest in. They have expert advisors who can discuss various tips on getting a successful long-term care insurance plan.

Aside from long-term care plans, Korthase Insurance also helps seniors and their families get the best Medicare Supplement and Medicare Advantage plans. They also provide hospital indemnity insurance, prescription drugs plan, dental and vision care, and final expense services.
