March 23, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

The Net Lender, a California based financial aid provider, has set out to educate their community on Covid 19. With the disease rapidly spreading across the world and leaving entire cities' worth of streets empty in its wake, TNL has seen the importance of ensuring that their clients remain informed of all recent news. Across the United States, health and government officials are working together to maintain the safety, security and health of the American people but without the cooperation of the public, it may be difficult to keep everyone healthy. "Everyone needs to do their part during this crisis," says TNL, "and we think it's our place, and the place of everyone else with some kind of platform, to make sure accurate, useful information about the crisis reaches everyone."

The California financial aid provider's main goal is always to help people, and their campaign to educate their consumers on the coronavirus is just one of the ways in which they are trying to offer aid during this crisis. With businesses closed due to the outbreak and the economy being seriously affected, many people may find themselves in desperate need of money, which is one of the many things TNL is looking to help with right now.

Sometimes, the need for emergency funds arises, and the coronavirus may leave many people in need of such funds. The following months may see many people either lose their jobs or simply not earn enough to survive. The possibility of finding oneself in a position where they need cash quickly is very real and is likely to go up over the next few months. Notably, banks may not be the best option to turn to for aid at the moment. TNL specializes in helping customers get the cash they need for an unexpected expense or emergency financial situation. Whatever the situation may be, TNL is ready and willing to help. Find out more at <https://thenetlender.com/>.

Their easy application process is what separates the company from traditional sources of emergency cash such as banks. Using one's car, truck, motorcycle, recreational vehicle, jet ski or even boat, it is possible to secure a substantial amount of emergency cash from TNL. "We have been helping customers acquire the money they need for many years," says the California financial aid provider. "We work hard to provide honest and fair rates for quick cash and will work with you to set up a payment plan that works with your income. We do not have hidden fees or extra costs that will haunt you later. We can help you create a repayment plan that won't leave you broke until you can pay back the money.?

TNL is far more reliable than banks, especially for people that do not meet the requirements at a bank or similar institution. Banks take much more time to approve requests, and they need the applicant to meet their strict requirements, such as having good credit. By making people wait so long, banks make it so their financial aid facilities are a less convenient source of emergency cash for most people.

As TNL says, ?Emergencies, accidents and a bad turn of events can happen to anyone. When people are hit hard by life?s unpredictable events, banks are not a reliable source for immediate support. Urgent problems and emergencies require quick solutions, and banks tend to have a slower process. When time is running against you, banks will not be able to give you the support you need. However, alternative lenders, such as TNL, offer quick financial solutions for borrowers under time constraints. With no time to waste, TNL cuts down approval time to less than 15 minutes. That means you can quickly get approved for your cash advance and be on your way to getting things done. Even customers with bad credit scores can be approved for a car title advance, should their vehicle qualify.?

Anyone in need of emergency cash during this crisis is encouraged to get in touch with The Net Lender.
