April 10, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Blue Ox Heating & Air is one of the most respected service companies in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area. Part of the reason for that is they are always looking for ways to help their customers save money and avoid costly heating and air repairs. That's why they say it may not be a bad idea for those homeowners who have an aging furnace to consider replacing it with a modern high-efficiency furnace. They are even encouraging homeowners to make this change by giving them some amazing purchasing opportunities. This includes their latest special that includes a free air conditioning unit with the purchase of a new high-efficiency furnace.

Tom Gehle, the General Manager at Blue Ox Heating & Air, talked more about this by saying, "Your old furnace may be costing you money without you even realizing it. There is a good chance that if you have a furnace that's over 10 years old, you are missing out on many of the unique efficiency features that modern furnaces offer. We ourselves are amazed when we look back and think about the number of furnace advances that have taken place over the last decade or more. Those who install a new high-efficiency furnace will also get a good return on investment that often will pay for itself over time."

The general manager says the main area where people can benefit from having a new high-efficiency furnace installed is in energy savings. Due to both government regulations and technical ingenuity, furnaces have never before burned fuel as efficiently as they do today. He says they have advanced burner designs that use less gas or oil to produce higher amounts of heat and fancy electronic ignition switches so no pilot light has to constantly burn fuel to stay lit. Gehle states that even the control systems are much more advanced than they were just a few years ago. Digital thermostats have increased dramatically in accuracy and control systems can now be set so that a furnace does not come on and run when people are not home. He added that the less time a furnace has to run to do its job the more energy savings a homeowner will get in return.

Gehle went on to add that their new buy one get one free offer will be available to those who purchase a new high-efficiency furnace by 5/15/2020. He says that even the bonus AC units are designed to be more energy-efficient than ever before.

The general manager also pointed out that Blue Ox Heating & Air is a family-owned and operated company that likes to give its customers a more personal service experience. They are also a full-service HVAC contractor that has experienced techs that are very proficient when it comes to resolving even the most difficult home comfort issue. He stated that they offer a broad range of heating and cooling services including furnace and air conditioning repair, service and installation. Gehle says they are even happy to help their customers out after hours with 24/7 emergency furnace and air conditioning services. They also offer convenient night and weekend appointment options and seniors can enjoy 20% off of their services every Wednesday. Other specials that this reputable Minneapolis-St. Paul HVAC service provider offers are their $49.00 furnace or AC tune-up services that will credit the cost of that tune-up to the price of any repairs that are found to be necessary during the tune-up process. He also pointed out that their company services and installs a broad selection of heating and cooling brands including Amana, Bryant, Carrier, Coleman, Goodman, Heil, Lennox, Payne, Rheum, Ruud, Trane, and York.

Blue Ox Heating & Air's services are also highly regarded by those that use them. On their Google Maps business page alone, customers have left some 446 reviews in which the average score was a more than respectable 4.6 out of 5-stars. Here is an example of one of those glowing reviews from Linda Raines who says, "3 weeks ago I called Blue Ox when my furnace went out overnight, and the office scheduled a technician to my home before noon. Daniel was prompt and called me when he was almost at my home. He was friendly, courteous, and went straight to work on my furnace. He figured out the problem, explained it in a detailed but easy to understand manner, and got it fixed promptly. Daniel pointed out a couple of items that will need to be fixed in the future but not necessary immediately. I appreciate everything that he did, and I was very pleased with his professionalism, courteousness, and attention to detail. I highly recommend this company, as we have been extremely pleased with each technician that has come to our home for service calls."
