Kratom Nation has recently launched their inaugural product, the Kratom. Kratom is a completely natural product that has a number of different effects. One of these effects, and one that has not been discussed much yet, is that it also encourages weight loss. Kratom Nation wants to highlight this effect in order to help people shed unwanted pounds.

"Kratom as a natural product has been around for some time," says a representative from Kratom Nation. "People have used it for years as a pain reliever and sedative, as well as to increase their energy levels. New research has shown that it is also beneficial in terms of losing weight."

Kratom Nation had started to conduct pieces of independent research into Kratom effects and they encourage anyone who has used the product and has experienced weight loss to come forward. They believe that Kratom is a far more effective product than Garcinia Cambogia, for instance, which is widely accepted as being an effective weight loss aid even though it has not been scientifically researched. Their goal is to make sure that Kratom is properly studied so that effects can be enhanced as well.

The company offers a number of different strains of Kratom and they have received various reviews on the effects of each of them. "Although one of the more mild strains of kratom, the effects offered by Premium Bali kratom are more useful than they are recreational," says one reviewer. "What that means is that this strain is good for an energy boost, a positive attitude and some light painkilling properties."

Kratom Nation, with website at kratomnation.com, is also keen to dispel the myth that Kratom is a drug that people use to get high. Kratom does indeed have a stimulant effect, giving people more energy, but it is certainly not a recreational drug. Furthermore, it is believed that it is the very fact that it provides more energy that could be conducive to weight loss. The company is keen to continue their research studies and hopes that people will come forward to discuss the effects they have noticed.
