iCleaners, a commercial cleaning company based in Ontario, Canada, is happy to announce that they have now started offering cleaning services for dental offices. With over six years experience, the company has long been the go-to commercial cleaning service in the Greater Hamilton Area. Dentists will now be able to enjoy their customizable services as well.

"We pride ourselves on being professional, dependable and both environmentally and socially responsible," says a representative from the company. "While we clean for visual appeal, as other janitorial services do, we also work on decontaminating offices, thereby reducing the change of diseases spreading. This is particularly important in dental offices."

The company uses various tools to make sure impurities, bacteria and dust mites are completely removed from the offices they clean. This ensures the health of those using the facility is protected. With dental work, the risk of infection is very high, which means this service is of vital importance to patients and dental office employees alike. The company also believes that having a clean, sanitary work space increases overall productivity, as well as increasing the value of the asset.

The services offered by the company have been very positively reviewed over the past six years. "Compared with other cleaning companies we have dealt with in the past, iCleaners is far superior in every aspect," says Dr Ian Brockhouse from Dundas, ON. "We have very specific and particular requirements in order to maintain the highest standards of cleanliness for our patients and staff. iCleaners has consistently met the exact standards that we have set while offering very competitive rates. We offer our complete endorsement and recommendation of the company."

The company, with website at icleaners.ca, has experience in working across a range of commercial facilities. These include offices, healthcare facilities, and bank facilities. They have now added dental offices to their specializations. Cleaning packages can be fully customized to suit the exact needs of the client, pertaining to the specific hygiene requirements they may have. The company encourages dentists to contact them to review the packages that are available and to follow them on their various social media channels, including Facebook and Google+.
