

Local Pest Service Releases Company Guidelines During Pandemic

March 25, 2020

March 25, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

March 25, 2020 - Top Bed Bug Control Specialists a pest control service located in Fishers, Indiana issued a statement today concerning their response to the coronavirus outbreak and the impact it is having on small businesses.

The Company stated, "We're still treating for all pests in the Fishers area. We're trying to stick to exterior treatments to the best of our ability, but if someone has a bad case of bed bugs, our technicians are willing to enter the premises and take care of the problem in a safe and effective manner."

Top Bed Bug Control Specialists has taken this seriously since it was first mentioned in the news, and started implementing handwashing and social distancing guidelines immediately. Their field manager noted, "We take this threat to our customer's health very seriously. If someone has a bad case of bed bugs, and can't wait for them to be treated, we thoroughly disinfect ourselves and our equipment before entering the home, we wear PPE, and we maintain a distance of at least 6'-0" from anyone who resides in the residence. Unfortunately, if these minimum guidelines can't be met, we have to postpone the treatment."

The pest control service stated that they were continuing to schedule services, and went on to say, "We haven't seen a significant decline in pest services in Fishers yet. As an industry our contact with other humans is pretty limited already, so most of our customers are comfortable that whatever treatment they're receiving will be at a distance." The Company also noted, "Many of our commercial clients have earlier closing hours, or have a workforce that is telecommuting which has given us an opportunity to get in and do our work while no one is present, making the application more efficient, and less impactful to our customers. As a matter of fact, it's even been a little easier on our residential clients, as many of them have gone to second homes or gathered with immediate family to wait out the stay at home order."
