April 01, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Newman Windows and Doors has some good advice for those looking to do spring window replacement. They remind that spring is a busy time for window companies like them, so people need to start planning those spring replacement jobs now in order to get the installation dates that they want and to make sure that custom ordered replacement windows arrive on time to start the job.

The company spokesperson for their Irvine, California store, Maria, had this to say about spring replacement window installation planning, "Replacement windows are one of the best ways to add value to your home and update your home's curb appeal. Keeping the Southern California climate at the forefront of our minds, Newman Windows and Doors only recommends windows that offer design flexibility, quality craftsmanship, and unmatched performance. We also recommend that those looking for spring window replacement installation in the spring to start that process now. That way you have plenty of time to check out the latest styles and trends in replacement windows and decide which best suits your home remodel, new construction, or window/door conversion needs."

Maria went on to say that spring is a great time to install new windows. She says that the weather is generally favorable to the job and it keeps in line with other spring projects that are aimed at making a home's exterior look better. The company spokesperson stated that no matter what exterior improvements are done to a home during the spring, they may not have the desired effect if a home's windows look dull, worn, and lifeless. New replacement windows, on the other hand, will nicely accent the looks of any home's exterior.

She also stated that many homeowners will be surprised by the many different options that they have in replacement windows when they start shopping for them. That is one of the main reasons why people need to start planning early for their spring replacement window jobs. Maria says that there is an incredible amount of styles and types of windows in the marketplace to choose from and early shopping will give a homeowner much time to consider all their options. She says that for example, they offer such styles of replacement windows as single-hung, double-hung, casement, horizontal sliding, awning, and more. Many of these windows also come in different colors and some are even made to mimic more expensive window materials such as natural wood. She added that the more time a customer gives themselves to choose their replacement windows, the better the chance that they end up with new windows they will be very happy with for a long time to come.

Maria also recommends that people do their spring window shopping with a company that knows their product well and does not push their ideas on a customer but only helps guide them in their choices. She says they offer what they term a worry-free shopping experience. They call it their Newman Signature Experience. It describes how they approach several different aspects of their customers' buying experience with them. She says the process starts out in a customer's home with a completely free of charge discovery session with one of their reputable window experts. Once the customer has made their window selection, they will then do all of the measuring and other requirements to get the window ordering process taken care of. Once the windows arrive, their InstallationMasters' Certified Installers will then go about putting the windows perfectly into place. Maria said these elite window installers are used to ensure the entire installation process lives up to the standard of excellence expected from the Newman Signature Experience. She emphasized that they never use regular subcontractors during the window installation phase. To complete the worry-free replacement window experience, the company will warranty their new window installation work for as long as the homeowner remains in that house.

The company spokesperson says that for those in Irvine and the Mission Viejo areas of California looking for window replacement near me?, they can easily reach Newman Windows and Doors by phone, email, or by filling out the contact form on the homepage of their website.
