Seekonk, MA -- Keystone Property Group opened its first office on July 16th in Seekonk, Massachusetts. "We're excited to serve the real estate needs of buyers and sellers in Southeastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island," said owner and broker, Jodi Hedrick.

Hedrick said that, although the company is new, it is backed by years of experience. She has eight associates; many of whom, including Tony Araujo, Kileen Mitchell, and Hedrick herself, have been in real estate for over 12 years. "Tony and his wife Diane are known as the Araujo team, and they have been building relationships with local clients for years," Hedrick said. "They're very customer oriented. In fact, our whole team is. That's important to me, to ensure we can deliver the best experience possible."

Other Keystone associates include Johnna Beckmann, Dina Fontaine, Erin Mercer, Jeff Harris, and Cory Carney. "Every one of our agents is dedicated to helping our clients navigate the buying and selling process," Hedrick said. "We understand that buying or selling a home is one of the largest financial decisions most people make, and it can be a stressful time. Our goal is to support our clients through each step of the process. We make sure they understand what their options are, what is happening at each step in the process and what to expect next."

In addition to residential listings, the company also works with commercial property, land purchases, and sales. "We are a full service brokerage," said Hedrick.

The company also offers a free value analysis for anyone who is considering selling a property. "It's important to have a thorough analysis done by a professional," Hedrick said. "There are several factors that go into determining how much a home or commercial property is worth in the current market. Pricing the property appropriately gives you a much better chance of selling it in a timely manner and getting what it's worth."

Hedrick said those who are interested in buying or selling a residential or commercial property can contact Keystone Property Group at 508-557-0366, or via email at info@keystonepropertygroupllc.com.
