BALTIMORE, MD - April 16, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Baltimore, MD - In an effort to make things more convenient for their prospective customers, McHenry Roofing. is now offering roofing quote requests directly over the phone. They say it will make it much easier than ever before for their customers to get a quote on a roof repair or any of the other construction projects that they want to be done. These quick quote responses will then enable their customers to make the important decisions they need to regarding any of their upcoming roofing or construction projects.

The McHenry Roofing team leverages 16 years? experience in multiple aspects of house construction for numerous homes in the Baltimore metropolitan area. The company specializes in shingle roofs for residential properties. The Baltimore roofers offer thermoplastic polyolefin (TPO) roofs & standing seam metal roofing solutions for both residential and commercial properties.

Joseph Conley, a spokesperson for the company, had this to say about why they decided to start taking quote requests over the phone. He said, ?When someone has decided that they want to get a roofing, renovation or construction project done, they don?t want to have to jump through hoops to get a quote. With us you no longer have to. With our over the phone quote request system, all someone has to do is provide us some general information on their project and wait to receive their estimate over email. Once we receive their quote request, we will quickly get back to them and get the quote process started.?

With many years in business, McHenry Roofing has watched as their business reputation went from exclusively ?word-of-mouth? to online, where it can be seen by thousands on demand. Today?s consumer is much more savvy and prepared when shopping for home services, which is good for high quality businesses and bad for those who disregard customer satisfaction. With the help of Google, Yelp, Facebook, and others, both businesses and customers can benefit from a more open discussion around reputation.

The company itself offers an incredible variety of roofing and construction services. For roofing alone, they do everything from simple repairs to entire roof replacements. They also offer many different roofing material options. These include such things as quality GAF and IKO Shingles. Their crews also specialize in installing highly decorative and long lasting metal roofing panels.

Conley mentioned to us that they also do many gutter replacements in and around the Baltimore, Maryland area. People call them because they offer new gutters that are virtually maintenance free. No longer do their customers have to risk climbing ladders during the fall to keep nuisance leaves from clogging their gutters and downspouts.

Other construction services the company offers include such things as window and door replacements. The crews at McHenry Roofing can also build an addition onto a home or construct a custom deck or porch for someone.

McHenry Roofing is a Baltimore Maryland-based roofing company that works with homeowners to perform roof inspections, roofing estimates, roof repairs, and new roof installations and re-roofs. They work with both asphalt shingle roofing and metal roofing systems. No matter the size of the roofing job, the company is committed to safety, quality, and timely performance for each and every roofing job.

Baltimore customer Kent Wissman shared, ?He recommended that I have my insurance come check the roof. The roof definitely needed replacing and Michael and his team did a great job.? Kent went on to say, ?McHenry Roofing used the GAF Timberline shingles and other components so you will have a 50 year warranty. Some other neighbors had their roof replaced by one of the storm chaser roofing companies and the quality of the shingles used by their roofer are much lower quality than what McHenry Roofing used.?

In addition to many favorable reviews, McHenry Roofing has also received many local awards and certificates for the way they conduct their roofing and construction work. These awards and certificates include the ?Talk of the Town? customer satisfaction award and the Certified Residential Roof Inspector certificate.

Another previous client shared his appreciation in a Facebook recommendation: ?This company did exactly what they promised! On time every day, they are a great crew. They eliminated standing water on our flat roof house so now we don?t worry about leaks.?
