

Dunlor Offers A Fathers Day Gift For The Party Boy Father

August 25, 2015

August 25, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Dunlor, a company based in Australia, is now offering the perfect gift for the ultimate party-loving father, the Jeeves Bottle Tote, designed to keep drinks cold. The product's launch was announced on the company's Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/JeevesWineAccessories>.

"We initially wanted to make a product that targets the fun-loving dads out there?something simple yet truly useful," said Rob, Dunlor's Marketing Manager. "We decided for it to be a bottle tote that keeps beverages cold. It's pretty much made for everyone. It sounds simple but at the end of the day, we think our bottle tote has the capability of keeping everyone happy, and that is what a party is all about," Rob stated.

Dunlor's bottle tote is made from the thickest neoprene for the best insulation. The neoprene measures 5mm, one of the thickest neoprene measurements out in the market today. The high quality neoprene protects and maintains the temperature of bottles and cans significantly longer than the competition. The bottle tote is also versatile, as it can also be used to carry anything from baby formula bottles, wine bottles, to sports drinks. Because of the product's thick material, the Dunlor's bottle tote can prevent glass breakage during transport. It is easy to clean and store, and it comes with a strong handle which makes the product withstand wear-and-tear.

The product is currently being sold at <http://www.amazon.com/dp/B00QYE9GUG>. As of this writing, Dunloor's bottle tote has been receiving favorable feedback from satisfied customers. Averaging an impressive rating of 4.9 out of 5 stars, the reviews on the product has been consistently positive. A verified purchase from Amazon customer J. Judy wrote: "I love this multipurpose tote! The neoprene cushions and insulates wine bottles, so not only does it keep the perfect temperature, but there's no clanging or banging, which means I don't have to worry about breakage."

Dunloor continues to offer a wide range of simple and useful products for everyday living. These products range from lifestyle accessories to technological gadgets that aim to provide convenience and promote safety. The company's complete list of products can be found on its Facebook page, with detailed descriptions and prices.
